'67 Was The Year →

'67 was the year 20 new teachers and many new students entered the Marion High School environment. Their energies typified the image of MHS's "Giant of Youth" statue in our library patio.

Summer school P.E. students went through long hours of swimming, bowling, and baseball.

Coronation Ball returned to the MHS agenda after a year's absence. Prom, Homecoming, and musical and play dates added important variety.

Coveted basketball, tennis, and golf trophies helped fill the display cases.

From 116 subjects offered, each student chose those most interesting and best suited to him.

These factors combined made MHS'ers realize that '67 was the year.

.. Marion High, Students Adapt Seasonally

As the shifting seasons brought their variances in temperature, appearance, and weather, MHS students also assumed different dress, practiced various skills, and adopted altered behavior.

Fall brought the first big event, Homecoming. Floats and decorated cars backed the Giants although rain delayed the parade for the first time in six years of observance.

A pre-winter snowfall on November 3 caused student drivers many problems and closed Marion High School for a day. Car pushing became a common activity as parking registrations hit an all-time high of 539.

Studying moved out-of-doors as the first green leaves of Spring appeared. Many students took advantage of the library patio.

Summertime of 1966 found students taking bike hikes and swimming lessons to earn physical education credit. This was the first year for summer physical education at Marion, giving students a chance to participate in many sports during a four hour class period.

'67 Was The Year →

'67 was the year when "The Man Who Came To Dinner" was presented. Previous to this was the traditional Homecoming with the undefeated Marion Giants. The Park, drive-ins, the play, the musical, the Coronation Ball, and the Prom played an important role in the life of every student. Apart from the relaxive activities, the students studied periodically in the 11,000 volume library and the well-equipped classrooms.

MHS Exemplified Universal Qualities Of

Marion High School's corridors served as avenues where students, teachers, and visitors saw those universal qualities which mark each American high school.

Senior cords distinguished the upperclassmen of MHS. These multi-colored garments, splashed with colorful representations of the clubs or activities the wearer belonged to, added spirit and life to Marion High School. Class rings ranging from '67 to '70 also played an important role as they took on decoration to hide various attempts to make male rings fit female fingers.

Salads, pies, and ice cream were just a portion of the food selection in the modern cafeteria, but tenderloins and French fries were the favorites of many. Classes ate at five minute intervals to enable all the 2100 students to have a 27 minute lunch period.

The library, opened from 7:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. each day, displayed a wide variety of books and materials for students.

A familiar sight around school was 5'0" Carolyn McCuan and 6'7" John Sutter meeting between classes to walk together.

Community and MHS Combined Efforts

To Better Marion

The great improvement of the Marion Marching Band brought admiration from the community. Winning 25th place at the State Fair among the 96 bands entered and carrying off first place honors at Ball State University, they continued to march in various parades throughout the fall. Each Band member wore his black and gold uniform with a great deal of pride.

With the cooperation of school and community, Marion collected a large sum for the United Fund. During October the flaming UF torch lighted the northwest walk of the courthouse; in MHS each of the homerooms donated its share toward the school offering that helped swell the total.

Business owners and private citizens showed more generosity by providing cars, truck beds, and places to work for the float builders readying for the sixth Homecoming parade. All the clubs participating realized and appreciated the community cooperation in all these undertakings.

Marion Activities Parallel To Other

Many of Marion High's 2100 students have part-time jobs that give them the opportunity to fulfill requirements for adult responsibility.

Teen centers are often visited by MHS'ers for relaxation and a chance to talk with friends away from the busy school scene.

The scenic views of Matter Park were a great change from the hub-bub of Marion's traffic and business area.

This year over 700 parents attended Open House at MHS on November 7. A colorful display of student work was presented in each room.

The Cactus staff worked hard to obtain an all-time high in selling the yearbook. Cactus is the record of all the items when '67 was the year.

American High Schools

Rain, Victory Mark 66 Homecoming

For the sixth year in succession MHS selected a Homecoming Queen. In 1966 Jackye Cole reigned with Senior Princesses Anne Whitcraft and Sally Beouy. Sophomore Teresa Schrock, junior Susan Wilkinson, and freshman Tawana Floriana completed the 1966 Homecoming court.

The Art Club float, "Wipe Out", took first place in parade awards for the third time in the six year history of the event. All floats were good examples of the creativity and dedication which kept members of eleven clubs working until the wee hours to finish their floats in time for the annual parade.

Despite rain-drenched, freezing conditions, MHS Giant rooters helped the team defeat eighth ranked Anderson to even our Homecoming record at 3-3. This win was the climax in Marion High's drive to its first undefeated season.

Beauty Plus Ingenuity Helped Top Indians

Highlighting Royalty, Competition Efforts

Queen, Princesses Presented Relay Awards

As part of the annual sport's activities, the 1967 Marion Relays were held April 15th. Coach Oatess Archey clocked times and measured jumps as his Giant team collected their share of the prizes. Several lettermen returned, including Doug Brown, Howard Johnson, Larry Rankins, Gary Brendel, Alan Miltenberger, Roger Brewer, Edward Dixon, and Harvey Cox. High hurdles, races, and relays were only a portion of the fourteen contests participated in by visiting and Marion athletes. Mississinewa and Oak Hill were two of the Grant county visitors, while Hartford City, Elwood, and Muncie South came from outside of the county.

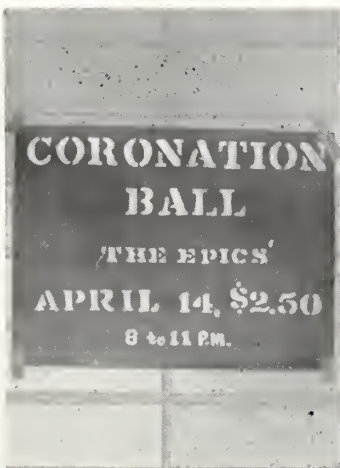

Starting the day at 1:00 with trial runs, Freshmen athletes participated in high hurdles and a 100 yard dash. The finals started at 1:55, as the varsity team ran four different medleys. Various dashes and relays followed.

Performing its annual duty of boosting the team and of presenting ribbons to the winning Marion athletes, the Relay Court consisted of Queen candidates Cathe Earle, Linda Shipley, and Suzi Short; Junior Attendant Karen Riddle; Sophomore Attendant Cathy Smith; and Freshman Attendant Chris Woodard.

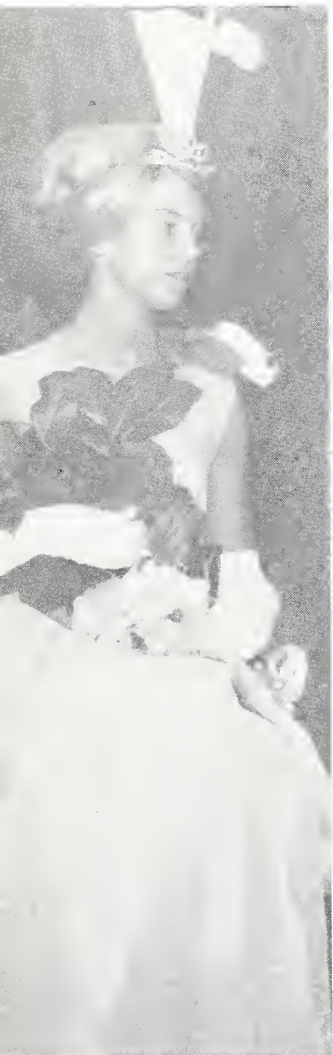

Brought back after a year's absence, the Coronation Ball was held on April 14th. The Epics of Fort Wayne provided the music for the reigning court and other dancing couples.

“Somewhere Over the Rainbow” Developed into Theme of Prom

A colorful rainbow, depicting the 1967 Junior-Senior Prom theme of "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," highlighted the beautiful decorations of the annual dance. Changing from Friday to Saturday night, May 27th was the date set. Co-chairmen Janet McKown and Terry Terhune spent many hours, with the help of eight hard-working committees, to create a lovely evening.

As the colors, blue and mint green provided the Juniors with an array of ideal decorations, the Bristols from Indianapolis furnished the music, playing the theme song of "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," for the dancing couples. Three Queen candidates were elected in April from the Junior class.

Crowned Queen of the 1966 Prom was Patricia Young, with Debbie Crist and Nancy Rankin as her princesses. Baby blue, azure blue, and silver were the colors selected, as a paddle wheel, running pond, and several stars beautified the MHS cafeteria. Styrafoam half moons with angel hair completed the decorations for the tables. Providing the evening's music, the Comets of Fort Wayne played the theme song of "Moon River." While developing the southern elegance into reality, co-chairmen Jackye Cole and George Garrett and six busy committees worked long hours.

Comedy Performance

Presenting a comedy play, the Stage and Stammer Club chose "The Man Who Came to Dinner" this year. Auditions were open to all MHS'ers interested in the three-act comedy, given November 18th and 19th. Producer-Director Mr. James Clark was assisted by faculty members and four production committees.

Four performers, appearing in their first star roles, included Don Cline as Sheridan Whiteside, Judy Mendenhall as Maggie Cutler, Janet McKown, as Mrs. Earnest W. Stanley, and Fred Bradley as Bert Jefferson. "The Man Who Came to Dinner" centered around the household where Sheridan Whiteside, Broadway columnist, lived while recovering from a fall. Because he had fallen at their home, the Stanley's insisted that he and his secretary, Maggie Cutler, stay. Newspaperman, Bert Jefferson, posed a problem to Whiteside's peace and to his chance of losing his secretary. The energetic Editor-reporter not only managed to get his story, but also Maggie's hand in marriage.

Whiteside disrupted the entire family and his nurse by being as mean as he had always been. In addition, when he was able to walk again, he neglected to mention it just so he could live off the Stanleys' a while longer. However, they found out and he was asked to leave, but as he was leaving he fell again. A movie actress, a love affair within the Stanley household, an aquarium of alligators, and many good actors and awkward situations added to the enjoyment of the play.

MHS'ers Performed

"How To Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," the musical comedy given by MHS students and musicians was presented April 7th, 8th, 14th, and 15th in evening performances, and April 9th in one student matinee. McCulloch Auditorium, again the scene of a Marion High School production, became the World Wide Wicket Company of New York. George Garrett as Pierrepont Finch, Judy Mendenhall as Rosemary Pilkington, Howard Detamore as J. B. Biggley, and Jane Ellis as Hedy LaRue enacted the leading roles.

Finch, with the help of a book entitled "How To Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," climbed the business ladder from window washer to Chairman of the Board of J. B. Biggley's World Wide Wicket Company. A secretary for the company, Rosemary Pilkington, immediately set her goals to marry Finch, who later also fell in love with her. She managed to get him useful information and to get him out of a few messes. After being a cigarette girl, beautiful Hedy LaRue came to the company at Biggley's request. However, none of the office men would hire her, since one man had already been sent out to a Venezuela office for dating her.

Finch's rise, of course, was not without mishap. He was forced to put up with Biggley's nephew.

Musical Hit: "How To Succeed in Business"

'67 Was The Year → For Academics

'67 Was The Year in which MHS'ers were fortunate to have such a varied curriculum. Among the new additions were Advanced Placement, a college preparatory course for advanced English students; Life Science, a second course for those who wish to concentrate on Biology; Data Processing, a course designed to teach computer scheduling; and Stage Art, a course in which students learned the art of designing stage backdrops. From these new courses plus the 97 long standing ones, students prospered. Never before had there been such a widespread curriculum, to prove that '67 Was The Year.

Curricula Added New

DISCUSSING SOME PROBLEMS with Mr. Charles Saunders are the Advanced Placement English students. The course was open to seniors only.

DISPLAYING HER REPLICA of Silas Marner's house is Diana Griffith, sophomore Literature student. Her project was one of many turned in.

WORKING ON THE SECOND publication of Excalibre, are the Journalism class as they worked with Advanced Placement students. The book entries were judged by college professors.

Senior English Course

The Advanced Placement English course was a transition between the academic English activities of superior high school students and the beginning college English program. The course was open to superior senior students only.

Journalism was an introductory course to the mass media and to newswriting. The students were taught to review the mass media and their place in a free society. Editorial writing, feature writing, column writing, and radio and television script writing were stressed. Also included was a unit on elementary news photography.

Every student at MHS had the opportunity to enroll in a Literature course pertaining to his class. The freshman Literature course was designed to foster the appreciation of literature through an understanding of basic literature types and motifs as they were developed by great cultures of the world, both classics and modern. A survey of experiences in all literature types was a desirable goal.

Dramatics was a basic introduction to a history of the theater through the ages up to modern times. The student learned how to handle himself in the portrayal of several characters within one play and the methods and practices of stage acting.

A PANEL DISCUSSION, part of the time well spent in Mr. Reiter's English class, is entered into by all students.

"PICNIC," a play, by William Inge, is enacted by second semester Drama students. Using various plays, students also built miniature set designs as part of the semester work.

Department Facilities

LIGHTING THE BUNSEN BURNER, Lab assistant Mike Mills prepares for another required experiment. This was the first year students assisted Science teachers.

The specific fields of science that were stressed were: mechanics, thermophenomena, wave motion, electricity and magnetism, and nuclear physics.

Those students enrolled as Lab Assistants aided the various science teachers. They also had projects such as raising fruit flies, studying plant growth, bacteriology, organic chemistry, and genetics.

Advanced Science offered an opportunity for the talented student of science to pursue an area in which he has special interests. The student was encouraged to select a problem with which to participate in the National Science Talent Search, a science fair, or some related project activity. The course content surveyed areas in genetics, qualitative chemical analysis, organic chemistry, crystallography, and advanced physics topics.

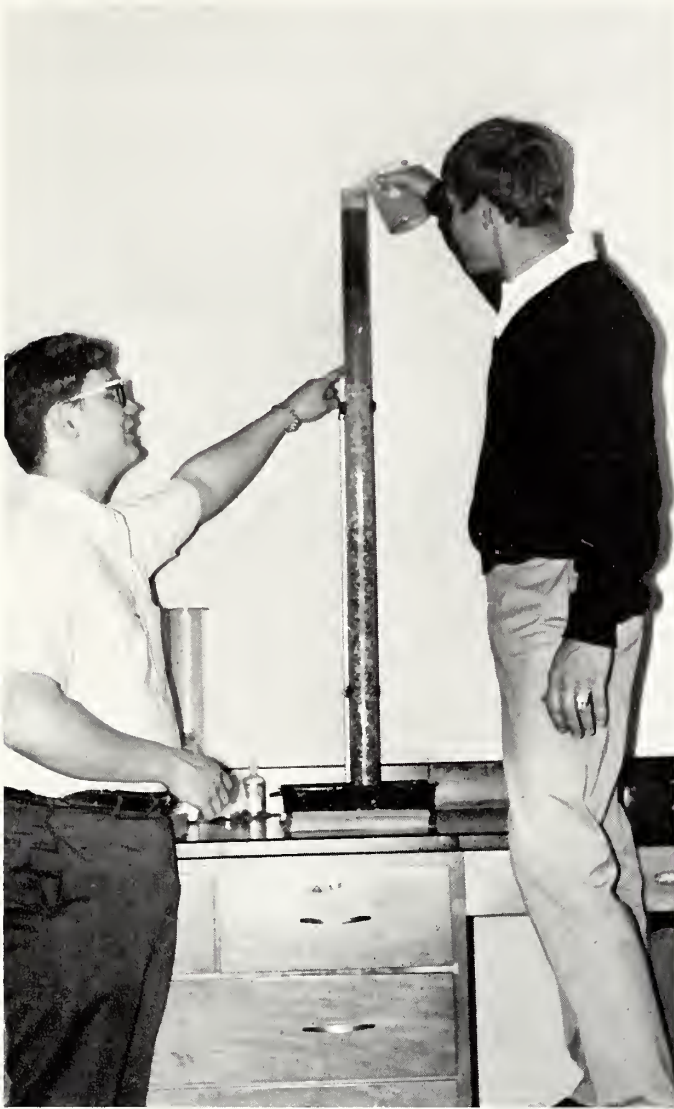

Life Science was primarily designed for the student who wanted to major in the sciences and who was especially interested in advanced studies leading toward a career in the biological sciences.

Chemistry was the organized investigation of the properties of and the changes in materials. Emphasis was placed upon the structure of matter, matter and energy relationships, chemical bond, and periodicity of the chemical notations.

INJECTING A NEEDLE INTO A MOUSE are Life Science students Jim Burns and Steve Pyle.

Utilized by Budding MHS Science Students

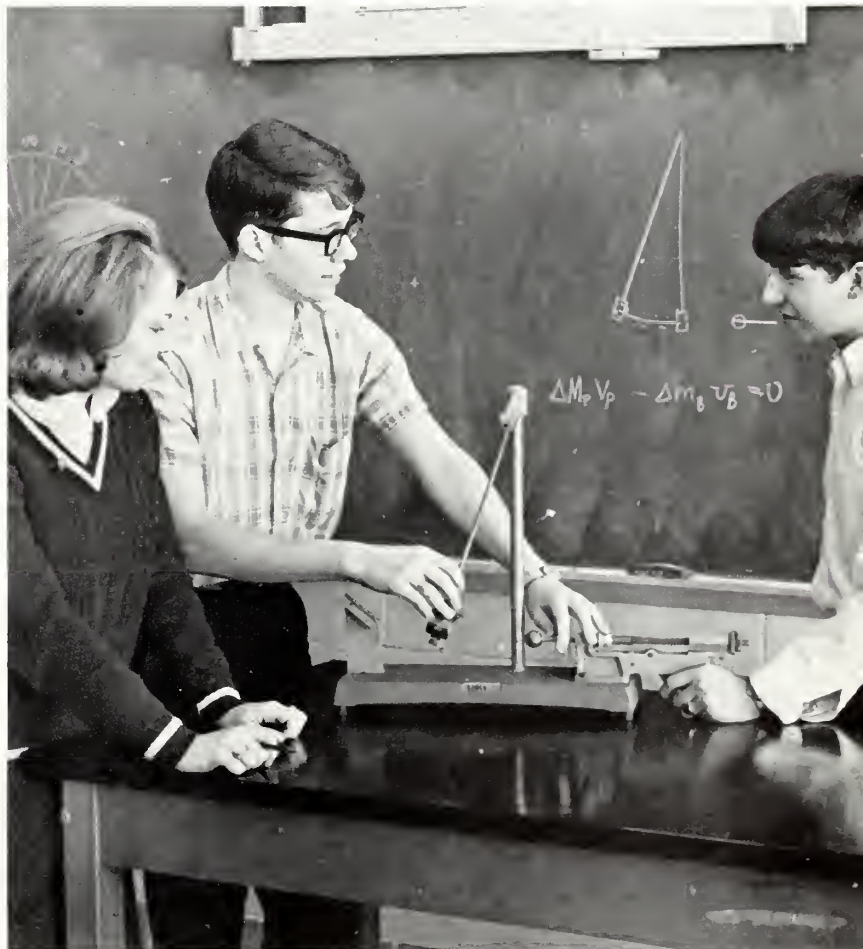

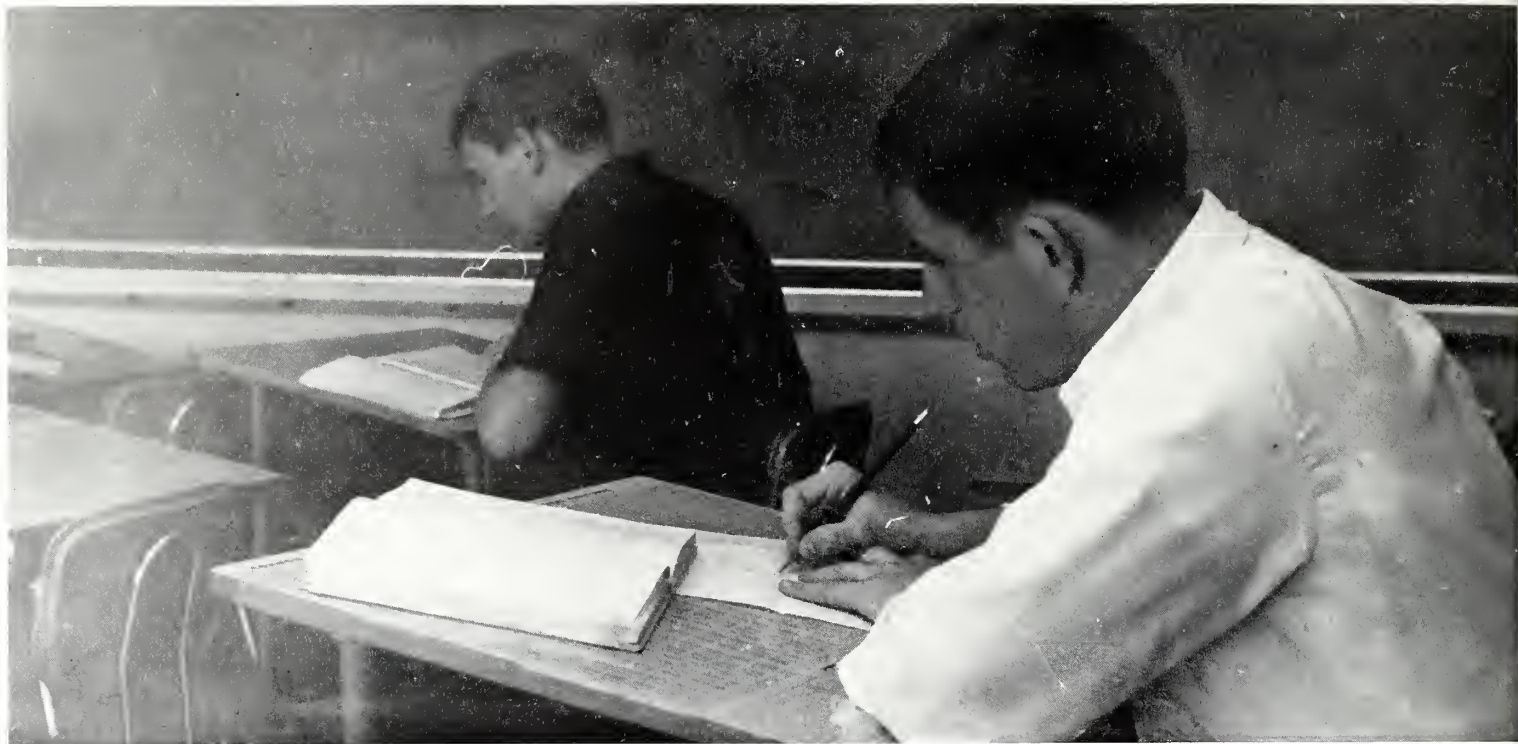

FILLING THE PHYSICAL SCIENCE WATER TANK, students Phil Jennings and Mike Adamson demonstrate its filtering action. The tank uses different sizes of rocks and gravel in showing nature's way of cleansing water.

ILLUSTRATING FORCES OF GRAVITY, Physics students, Vickie Powell, Rick Ballard, and Dave Hanson, use a pendulum in their class experiment.

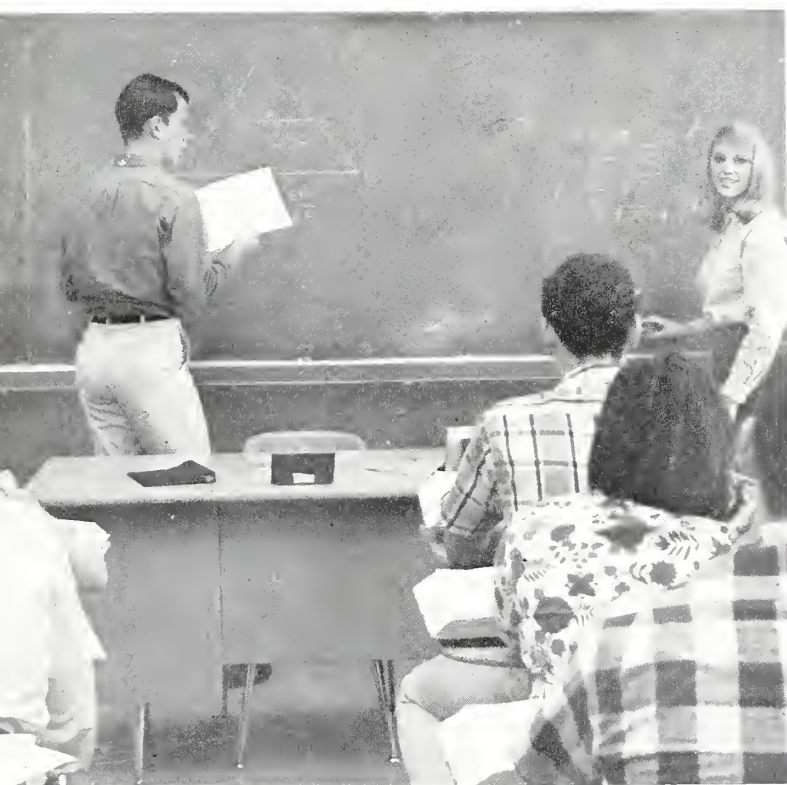

LISTENING INTENTLY TO INSTRUCTIONS given by Mr. Lewis Houston, Biology teacher, students learn the step by step method of frog dissection.

USING THE MODERN FACILITIES, a College Algebra student works diligently to finish his assignment.

Math, Occupational Students Learned Formulas,

COMPLETING A PROBLEM on the blackboard are two Geometry students. The students also study three dimensional figures.

Various Mathematics courses, ranging in difficulty from 9th grade High School Arithmetic to 12th grade Analytic Geometry, completed the schedules of Marion High School students. With the ten mathematics teachers, students worked with protractors, compasses, and slide rules.

Among the courses available to freshmen were High School Arithmetic 1 and 2, General Mathematics 1 and 2, and Algebra 1 and 2; those available to sophomores were General Mathematics 3 and 4 and Geometry 1 and 2; among the courses for the juniors this year were Algebra 3 and 4; and senior courses included Trigonometry, Consumer Mathematics, Analytic Geometry, and Algebra 5.

A new course being introduced this year was Cooperative Office Education, COE, enabling students to work in Marion business offices and to attend high school at the same time. Many downtown and surrounding offices employed them.

DCE, Distributive Cooperative Education, gave seniors, who were interested in trade, industrial, and technical fields, an opportunity to examine the modern industrial and business world.

Another course, Distributive Education, allowed seniors during the 1966-67 school year to participate in part-time work and to investigate the principles of marketing and management of everyday business.

STACKING GROCERIES, DE student Mike Butche works part-time and attends school part-time.

Trained for Business

DCE STUDENT, Terry Chambers, holds a little patient in her lap. This is just one of the many requirements for the job.

COE STUDENT, Ruth Turrie, files papers while working half days at Hertz and Kennedy.

Future Jobs Secured

WARMING UP FOR TIMED WRITINGS is Mrs. Allen's typing class. A daily warming up session was just part of the required work as students learned to type term papers, book reports, and letters.

TYPEWRITERS GET DIRTY, TOO, as many typing students found out. Monthly cleanings were exercised in most classes.

120 WORDS A MINUTE is the goal of first and second year shorthand students. Lab and oral dictations help to build their speed.

as Students Developed Business World Skills

REPRODUCING AND COMPLETING report cards and schedules are IBM students Pam Dennis, Diane Tucker, Barbara Burkhardt, teacher Mrs. Ring and Vickie Turner.

LEARNING THE PRINCIPLES OF SELLING, Mr. Wray's Sales class students gain experience through classroom discussions.

Training for future jobs as office workers, students developed skills in various business courses with the help of eleven business teachers. As the first course for business majors, General Business 1 and 2 was primarily a sophomore class, placing emphasis upon the understanding of ideas rather than obtaining skills. Units of work included banking, communications, and careers in Business.

Two semesters of typing were available as general electives, while two more semesters were required of business majors. Typing 1 and 2 dealt with basic typing problems, acceptable speed, and an accurate rate. Being purely a vocational course, Typing 3 and 4 aimed for accurate proofreading, neat corrections, and correct spelling. Amount of production during the course and work done under time were emphasized.

For those students on the stenographic curriculum, two years of shorthand were offered. Typing 1 and 2 were required before Shorthand 1 and 2 (including punctuation, word usage, and spelling drills) and Shorthand 3 and 4, consisting of vocabulary building, improved reading skills, and review of grammar, could be taken.

Bookkeeping 1 and 2, open to juniors and seniors, worked with special journals and subsidiary ledgers, while applying bookkeeping procedures, practice sets were used. Bookkeeping 3 and 4 reviewed the bookkeeping cycle; departmental and payroll accounts were studied as well as various types of controls and records.

Office Machines was offered to seniors who were preparing for office employment. Instructions were given in operating calculators, adding machines, and voice-writing machines.

VIETNAM CONFLICTS were one of the many subjects touched upon by Mr. Satterthwaite's American Government class.

MODERN PROBLEMS STUDENT, Connie Payne, displays a chart pertaining to economy.

Classmates Discussed

WORLD HISTORY STUDENT, Bernice Thompson, displays a picture she painted as a class project.

WATCHING FILMS AND LEARNING ABOUT U.S. HISTORY were part of the work done in classroom study. A film portraying the Capitol is being shown during this class.

IMPORTANT DECISIONS ARE MADE through posters and class lessons by Narcotic students Diane Edington and Guy Spencer.

Social Studies Facets

Although only United States history, the study of America's past; American government, the study of democracy and different levels of government; and Modern Problems, the study of recent problems in society and enterprise; were required subjects for Marion High School juniors and seniors, several other courses were offered to all students of the social studies department. They included Citizenship, also the study of democracy and different levels of government; World Government, the study of structures and governments of other nations; and World Geography, the study of climates and maps. Offered for those outstanding history students was Honors History, with students being chosen by counselors and social studies teachers. Also, for those students who achieve according to their ability, History X was offered with vocabulary, comprehension, and reading stresses. Both courses were new to Marion's curriculum. Citizenship, both government courses, Modern Problems, and economics were on semester courses, while all history classes were two semester classes.

Discussions on Vietnam, company visits, and special projects were part of the extra work done by many students. Several social studies teachers also required term papers and book reports.

Also part of the department, the one semester Psychology classes studied behavior patterns and mental health problems.

Designated as a science course, Narcotics gave students the basic facts about tobacco, alcohol, and sedatives.

INDUSTRY PROBLEMS AND IDEAS were learned by Economics students through the Marion Industrial Club, organized to introduce industrial problems.

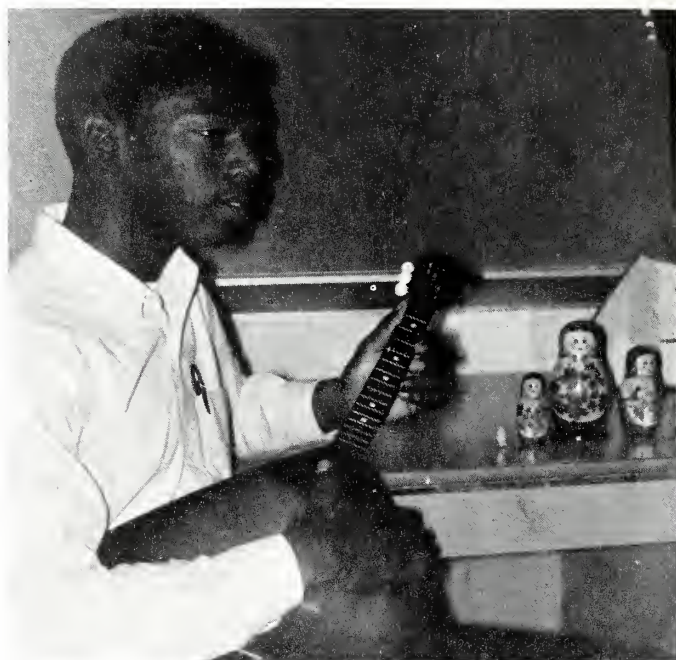

USING MENTAL TELEPATHY, Psychology students concentrated to transfer thoughts from one student to another.

Laboratories, Classes

ROMAN COLUMNS AND SWORDS, only two of the various Latin projects, are displayed by Janet Storey, Kenton Clark, and Gail Stevens.

PLAYING THE BALALAIKA, a three-stringed musical instrument, is Russian student Art Banks. The wooden dolls are typical Russian toys called "matrushki".

PREFIXES, ROOTS, AND SUFFIXES of Latin and Greek derivatives are studies of Mrs. Phelan's Etymology classes. Students Marva Franklin, Eric Pfohl, and Doug Peden list their words.

WATCHING MRS. LITTLEFIELD, fourth year Spanish students form sounds for learning the pronunciation of new words.

Used by MHS Foreign Language Students

Learning more than verbs, nouns, and sentence structures, Latin, Russian, Spanish, French, and German students studied the countries and customs behind their respective languages. Map studies, special projects, and lab sessions also helped add to their knowledge.

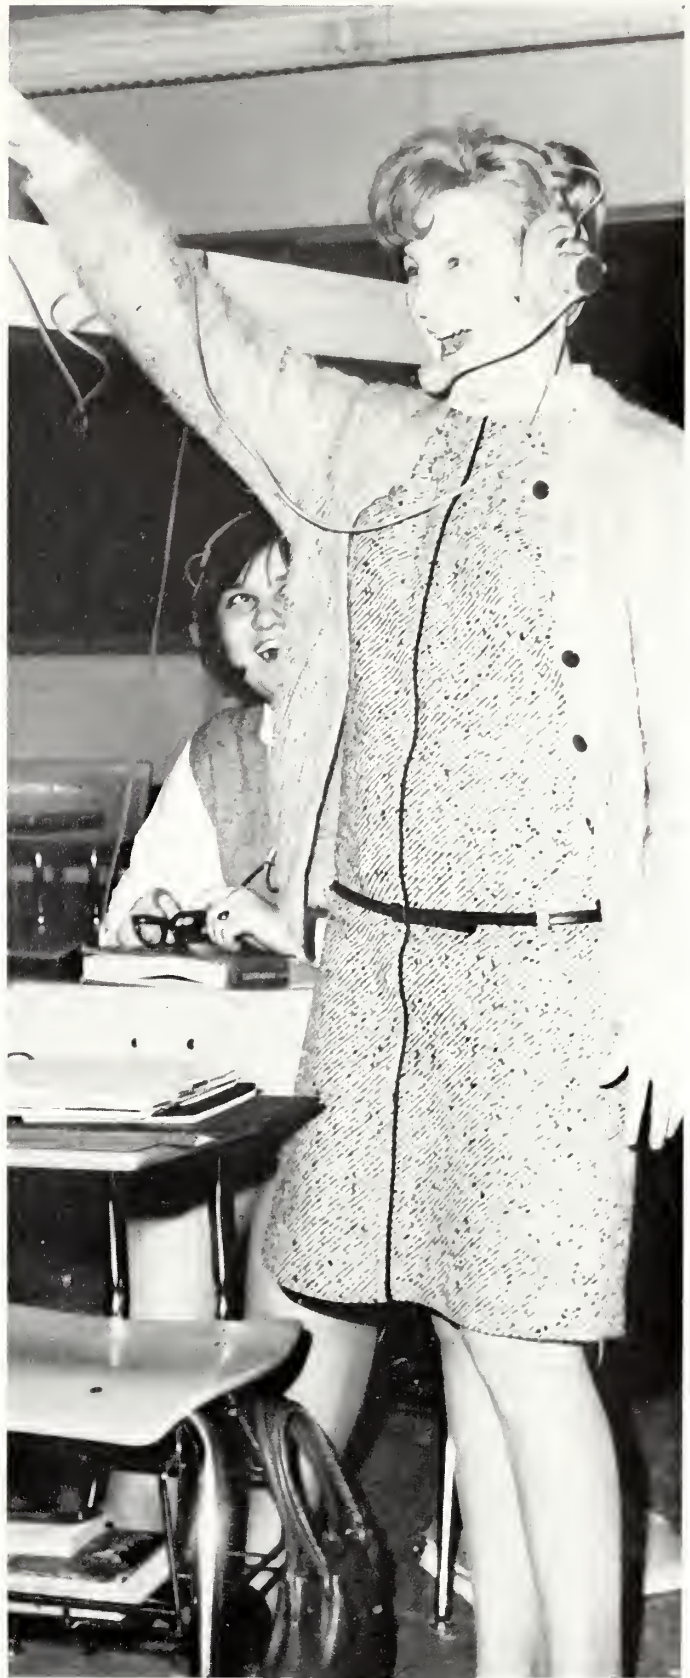

Four year courses were offered in each language except Latin, where only a three year course was offered. Also, German X was available for those students finding German difficult. The teaching staff consisted of one Latin and Russian teacher, two Spanish and German teachers, and three French teachers.

The annual Honors Program test enabled juniors in third year Spanish, French, Russian, and German to spend the summer in Europe. German student Mike Dailey was the only student winning 1966 honors.

A one semester course in Etymology, the study of words, was offered to students as part of the language department. Studies included the prefixes, roots, and suffixes of Latin and Greek words.

LEARNING TO TELL TIME IN FRENCH are French students Steve Burkhart and Elyse Johnson.

SIEG HEIL! hail victory in German, is the cry of German student Janna Libbert as she uses the foreign language laboratory.

Physical Fitness, Modern Equipment, Cars

GAINING EXPERIENCE IN DRIVING by using the driving simulators are Shiela Dickson and Pam Hanson.

Those students without driver's license found their dreams came true as hundreds of them completed Drivers' Education. A one semester course taught by four teachers, Drivers' Education taught the driver basic safety traffic problems, and Indiana laws. Instruction were also given in changing a tire and in parking the car. A new teacher, Mr. Duayne Hodgin, replaced Mr. Dick Persinger during second semester.

Giving Drivers' Education students driving experiences, sixteen simulators recorded driver mistakes. Twelve class hours with the simulators were equal to three driving hours, half the required time behind the wheel.

Health students studied human anatomy, first aid, and public health. Examining personality detail and personality problems of young people were also part of the course. Although health was a required subject, girls could substitute home nursing.

Physical education students completed the one-half credit required for graduation by taking gym at Frances Slocum. Summer school was also offered.

Occupied Pupils' Time

MR. OATIS ARCHHEY GETS TO THE HEART OF THE MATTER with his Health students while using the plastic heart for demonstration.

ONE, TWO, THREE, FOUR count Physical Education students at Frances Slocum as they participate in exercises.

BEGINNING DRIVERS LEARN DRIVING SKILLS as Drivers' Education teachers give them weekly opportunities in driving.

"WHAT'S THIS ONE MEAN?" asks one second grader of exploratory teacher Ann Storms. Ann helped out in class as well as taught part time.

PARTICIPATING IN A PANEL DISCUSSION are exploratory students Doug Peden, Jennie Campbell, Melanie Benjamin, Pat Benjamin, and Donn Zent.

TV, Teaching Students Pursued Careers

READING A PICTURE BOOK STORY, exploratory teacher Annette Mickel holds the attention of all but one of her kindergarteners at Frances Slocum.

WARMING UP FOR GYM CLASS, students follow Richie Keen, exploratory teacher. Volley ball and basketball were also included in his teaching.

TELEVISION STUDENTS LISTEN AND LEARN the fundamentals of a camera operation from Mr. Gerald Radick.

Exploratory Teaching was an elective for seniors interested in teaching careers. The course has been considered as one of the most effective experiences for attracting students to teaching. To interest and to encourage able students in the teaching profession, it gave students the opportunity to know the personal satisfaction derived from teaching. To help students interested in teaching, to determine the levels and areas which would be personally satisfying and challenging, was also one of the objectives of Exploratory Teaching.

Pupils attended the class in which they did their exploratory teaching four days out of the week, while one day a week was spent in class at the High School. During the class session at MHS, pupils participated in panel discussions, listened to guest speakers, and read outside material for background information.

Students enrolled in Television Production gained experience in commercial and educational television. Individuals learned how to work in group activities for proper teamwork. The classes produced, directed, and operated all television equipment for daily programming and educational features through the school television studio. Television I was designed to teach the semi-technical production portions of television, while Television II covered the directing and writing of television programming. The second year session gave pupils additional experience in directing and set design.

TWO-YEAR VETERAN, Jackie Cole, runs the camera, helping to make the daily announcements possible.

Music Classes, Choirs

DIRECTING HIS CADET CHOIR is Music teacher Mr. Peter Kobe. The choir is a mixed choral group for freshmen and sophomores only. The group performed in a combined festival with McCulloch and Jones School freshmen choirs during March.

MR. F. RITCHIE WALTON, Music Theory teacher, drills the Theory class on scales, chords, and rhythms.

Music played an important role in the lives of MHS students. Cadet Choir, Music Theory, and Music Appreciation classes met daily as well as the classes of the organ students. Each worked hard to perfect the branch of music in which he was enrolled.

Cadet Choir was a mixed choral group for freshmen and sophomores only. Experience in choral singing as well as a recommendation from their music teacher were requirements for the course. The choir performed on the same level as the Concert Choir by participating in the annual Tri-City Music Festival. The group also participated in a combined festival with McCulloch and Jones School freshmen choirs during March.

The learning of the basic fundamentals in music, such as scales, chords, and rhythms were involved in the Music Theory classes. Pupils were drilled in ear training, piano keyboard, elementary composition and writing in four part harmony. Later in the course, students were encouraged to write original melodies and were asked to arrange one melody for orchestra. Much time was spent in sight reading and dictation.

Music Appreciation was a class devoted to the study of the various periods of music and styles of writing. The course also involved the study of the lives of composers and their contribution to our musical heritage.

Students who had a three-year piano background or its equivalent were fortunate to have organ lessons. They were trained in classical organ literature on the full pedal concert organ.

Learned Fundamentals

LEARNING TO PLAY THE ORGAN, music student Alberta Miller practices on the school's instrument in Building 4.

STUDYING VARIOUS COMPOSERS, Music Appreciation students learn from group discussions given by Mr. Peter Kobe.

DONING THEIR ROBES, Cadet Choir, composed of freshmen and sophomores music students, perform in concerts.

The choir participated in the annual Tri-City Festival along with Concert Choir.

CAKE BAKING WITH MHS'S MODERN FACILITIES. Cheri Fite and Jo Jean Fuller enjoy class time cooking projects.

Planning for the future, home economic students studied foods, sewing, ironing, tailoring, home management, and home nursing.

Clothing and tailoring students learned the vast difference in textile production and technology. Along with the studying of the sewing machine and the many new trends in sewing techniques, the girls also learned how to make things from the simple garments to the more complicated garments. Sewing on knits, leather, and synthetic fabrics was also emphasized. The courses were rounded out with studies on grooming, costume design and the application of the art principles to clothing.

Students enrolled in foods studied the nutritional needs of the family and ways in which today's busy homemaker could utilize convenience foods and creativity in her daily planning. The tempting aroma of fried, baked and broiled meats or the tantalizing smell of fresh yeast dough often assailed the nostrils of those who ventured into Building 4. Kitchen planning and organization as well as marketing for today's family needs were also stressed.

Home Management, also an elective, taught students how to manage a home wisely, economically, and creatively. Pupils completely designed a simple floor plan of their ideal house and architecturally marked outlets, doors and closets.

Home Ec Students Gained Baking, Sewing,

WASHING AND IRONING FUNDAMENTALS of every housekeeper are learned by Linda Larger, Frances Showen, and Mary Owen in home economics.

PATTERNS COME IN HANDY for sewing students Janice Plummer and Cathie Carmichael as they use sewing machines in their classes.

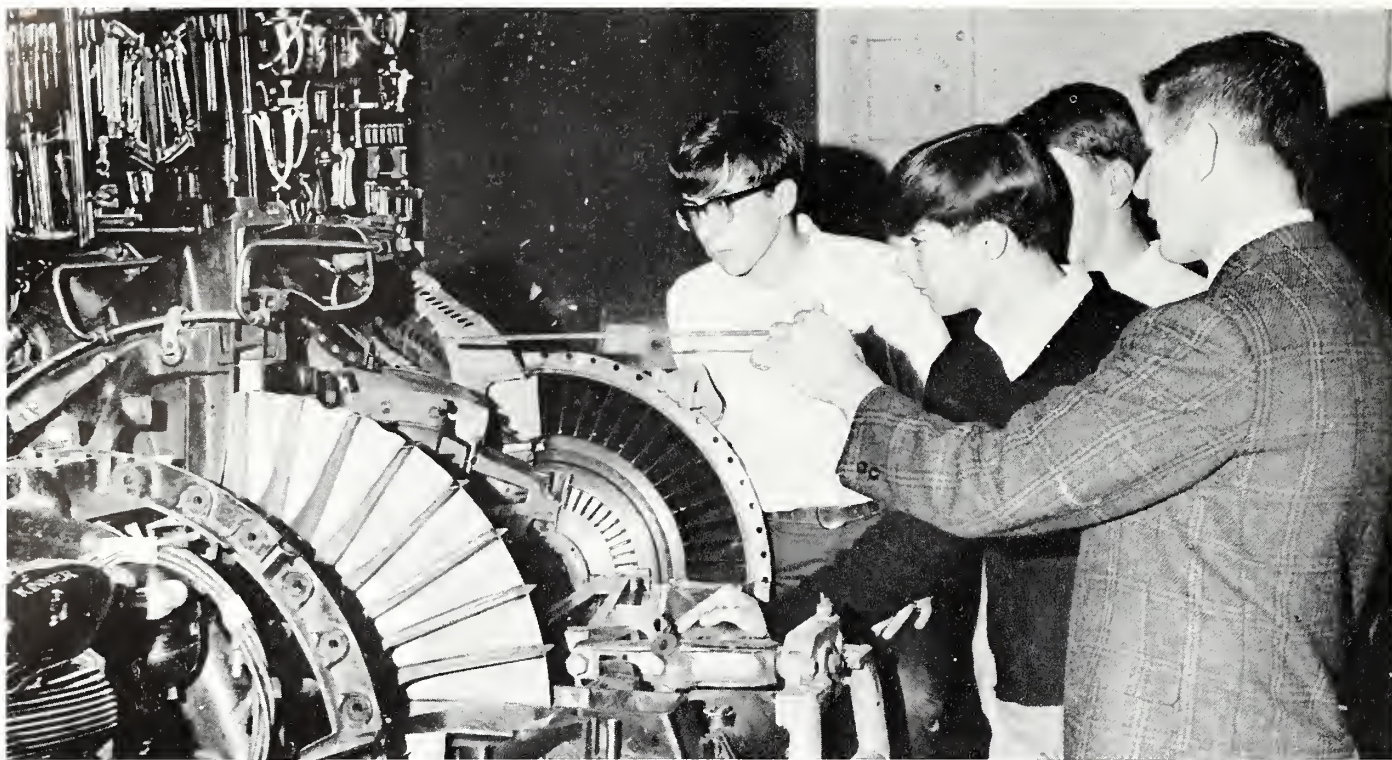

MAKING A BED CORRECTLY, Home Nursing students Jane Bussard and Melissa Bish fold and tuck bedsheets.

Ironing, Nursing Skills

CHINA CUSTOMS ARE DISCUSSED with Marriage and Family classes by Mrs. T. Y. Wang, a guest speaker.

HEMMING AND MEASURING, tailoring students Debby Bishir, Mary Beth Edwards, Mary Compton, and Sharon Evers work with a manikin.

er as Roger Rice, Jim Thorn, and Bill Mroz look on. The turbo-jet engine is used in aircraft.

Experiences provided in Graphic Arts

ELECTRIC ARC WELDING, taught by Mr. James Masing in Metal Training class, is being learned by two students in curtained booths.

Graphic Arts provided experiences in using tools, materials, and processes to solve problems related to printing and publishing. Vocational Arts was only offered to junior and senior students who had two semesters of arts printing.

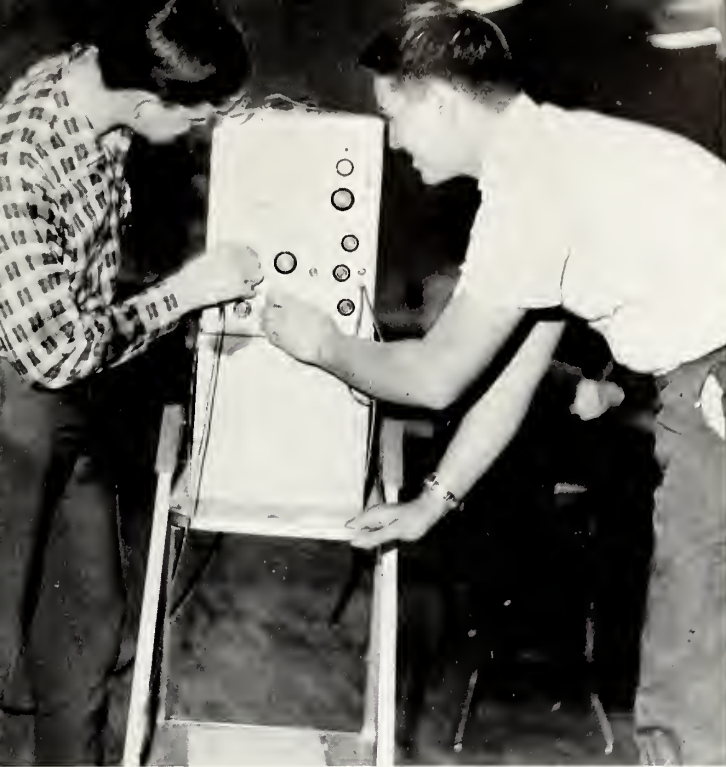

Subjects covered in the classrooms of Graphic Arts were planography, which is offset printing, stencil, and intaglio, which is letterpress printing. First semester was concerned with typesetting and letterpress while the second semester was devoted to the remaining areas.

Vocational Arts improved speed, skill, and accuracy in the printing trade. Actual work experience with the school equipment helped attain these goals. These students printed the MHS Survey, a tabloid size offset newspaper and the Excalibre, the literary magazine.

In Metals Machines, stress was placed on measuring systems, care, and use of hand tools, tempering and heat treating.

Auto Mechanics was intended for individuals interested in becoming mechanics after graduation. Engines, brakes, and transmissions were some of the areas covered.

Electronics 1 and 2 were introductory exploration and experiences, technical, service, and hobby levels while Electronics 3 and 4 provided experiences and the engineering and technical levels of electronics.

ADJUSTING A TEKTRONIC OSCILLOSCOPE, a device for measuring electrical waveforms, are electronics students, John Denny and Steve Stepler.

UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF PRINTING TEACHER, Mr. Williams, printing students, Don Wolf and Ron Wolf, learn how to operate the platen press.

OPERATION OF A SURFACE GRINDER, one of the many metal shop skills, is taught to Russell Paul by teacher, Mr. Tom Weesner.

For Activities

Enthusiasm and determination made possible the return of the Coronation Ball, the annual International Festival, and the MHS Debate Team.

Student initiative and innovation brought about such new activities as Career Day and Student Government Day.

The Marion Booster Club was chosen to be the first booster organization in the history of the Jean Lee Company to receive coverage in their national publication for spirit and performance. DE and DCE kept the honors coming in when they produced Indiana's "Students of The Year".

Old tradition along with a new generation of graduating seniors and joyful underclassmen joined together to confirm that '67 WAS THE YEAR.

School Improvements, Community Services

ADDING FINISHING TOUCHES to Marion High's first Career Day were officers Jeanie Wilkinson, John Sutton, Jenny Willhite, and Tom Shrock.

Striving to be of service to the school as well as the community, Student Council members assisted in filling the Red Cross boxes, working on the United Fund drive and collecting the annual food baskets for the Salvation Army. The Council is composed of a representative and alternate from each home room.

Among the school improvements, the Council members worked on having vending machines installed in the cafeteria, career day for interested students, and the use of voting machines in the election of Council officers. An outstanding political leader from our community keynoted the election.

Throughout the summer of 1966, a committee, composed of Council members and other students, prepared the first handbook to be used in the Marion High School South Campus building. Its purpose was to provide a reference for any student wishing information concerning MHS.

John Sutton, president, was assisted by Jeanie Wilkinson, Vice-president; Jenny Willhite, secretary; and Tom Shrock, treasurer. Senators included, seniors Tom Gardner, Cathe Earle, and Jim Ferrell; and juniors Susie Wilkinson and Bruce Beach. Representing the sophomore class was Gretchen Leech. The council was sponsored by Mr. A. Vitello, dean of boys.

DECK THE HALLS was the slogan of the student council as they spent after school hours preparing for Yuletide Season.

LOOKING OVER FINISHED PROJECT are the members of the Hand Book committee Richard Booth, Mary Lou Moody, Phil Boxell, Sherry Evans, and John Daily.

Club Renewed Coronation; Society Attended

Inter-Club Council is a standing committee of Students Council and is composed of all Marion High School Presidents. Inter-Club does not function as one club, but as a board to regulate all Marion High School clubs.

The Inter-Club Council supervised all the scholastic activities including the Marion Homecoming and the Spring Relays. Inter-Club's task for the year of "67" was to revise the school point system of activities.

Bringing back the Coronation ball highlighted the year of 1967. DCE club and DE club along with Inter-club worked diligently in planning the Coronation Ball. Colors were dark blue, light blue, and white. Guests danced to the rhythms of the "Epics". The dance was held on April 14 in the MHS Cafeteria from 8 till 11.

By constitutional law Student Council vice president, Jeanie Wilkinson, served as the Inter-Club Council president.

Aiding Jeanie Wilkinson in her duties with Inter-Club was Phil Boxell, vice president; and Jay Long, secretary. Sponsorship was under the guidance of Mr. Paul Weaver, assistant principal.

First State Seminar

The Marion Chapter of the National Honor Society was led by Phil Boxell, president. He was assisted by Doug Brown, vice-president; Jane Barney, secretary; and Carolyn Osburn, treasurer. Officers were elected in the spring of 1966. The 32 member club was sponsored by Mr. Robert Miller.

For the service project the club provided entertainment at the Veteran's Administration Hospital, where the club members participated in bowling parties, card parties, and library programs.

In October the National Honor Society officers attended the first seminar in our state's history. It was held at Yorktown High School and next year will be held here at Marion High School.

During the school year the club had various speakers. Mr. Nile Stanton spoke on the responsibility of intellectuals and Jay Long talked about his trip to Austria.

All members in the Honor Society had to maintain at least a 90% grade average. No more than 5% of the junior class and the top 10% of the senior class are eligible for membership. Through these methods they are judged on character, service, leadership, and scholarship.

Under the guidance of Mr. George Kind and Mr. Richard Lootens, approximately 50 artistically inclined students created the 1966-67 first place Homecoming Float. Giant waves and a surf board were significant of the float theme, "Wipe Out The Indians!"

Harry Cavis of John Herron Art Institute and Marvin Reickets of Ball State spoke on and demonstrated art techniques to widen the interests of the club members.

For the main money-making project, the Art Club co-sponsored a record hop in February. A trip to the Cincinnati Art Museum ended a rewarding and fun-filled year.

Elected leaders were Linda Adams, president; Marilyn Motsch, vice-president; Sandy Plank, secretary; and Dory Miltenberger, treasurer.

"HOW ABOUT THAT!" says Alice Colbert, president, and Nancy Royer as the Ushers Club car takes first place during homecoming festivities.

The Usher's Club was organized during the 1946-47 school year by Miss Mary Johnson and Miss Gladys Neal. Since that year, the members have upheld the purpose of the club which is to serve the community by ushering at school and civic functions.

The membership of the club consists of twenty-five students. Membership is based on the qualities of self-assurance, neatness, personality, and ability. Each year members vote in ten new members and two alternates from the sophomore class.

This past year the members ushered for the school play, "The Man Who Came To Dinner," as well as for the musical in the spring. The club also took first place in the car competition in the Homecoming Parade.

The officers were Alice Colbert, president; and Pam Dunwoody, secretary-treasurer. They were under the direction of Mr. Kobe, sponsor.

Novel yells by the masculine portion of the Marion High School student body added a humorous touch to Marion's basketball games during the year of 1966-67. The Boys' Booster Club was organized to boost the spirit of the team and the loyal fans during the season and the tournaments.

The club's members assisted the Girls' Booster Club in the construction of a float of which the theme was "Sleigh 'em Giants" for the annual Homecoming. This year's Boys' Booster Club also attended one out of town game, which was at New Castle.

The Boys' Booster Club was formed in the basketball season of 1962-63. It was organized to create more spirit in Marion High School. Membership of the Boys' Booster Club in the year of 1966-67 total 132 during regular season and expanded to a membership of 156 during tournament time.

Serving as advisors for the 1966-67 club were Mr. Charles Williams and Mr. Thomas Reiter. Officers were Eric Pfohl, president; Rowdy Bryant, vice president; Charles Arrendale, yell leader; and Carl Fenstermaker, attendance.

REMEMBER

REMEMBER was the slogan of the MHS Booster Club Representatives Margie Blaker, Jane Terhune, Mary Lou Moody, Sherry Evans, Vickie Powell, and Patsy Warren.

Spirit, Sophistication

"Come on Giants, Let's See Some Action," rang almost every weekend throughout the coliseum and boosted our Giants to many decisive victories. The 429 member Booster Club, which is the largest ever, unified team support by decorating the school and entertaining with the colorful "67" version of hand motions, yells and chants during pre-game shows.

The sale of mums, booster buttons with such slogans as "Remember" and "Marion Giants", and the annual Homecoming record hop provided money for various activities.

New additions included white gloves for each girl, and a round hoop for the team to run through.

For Homecoming the boys' and girls' Booster Clubs combined forces to create their float, the theme of which was "Sleigh Em".

Pride of Booster Club

For the first time all MHS girls were regular members and the reserves were from Jones and McCulloch Jr. High.

Mr. James Moritz sponsored the girls this past year with the help of Mrs. Pat Harrell and Mrs. Mary Eastes.

Holding positions as officers were Jackye Cole, president; Pam Dunwoody, vice-president; Anne Whitcraft, secretary; and Donna Richcreek, treasurer. Miss Beth Morgan, served as mascot for the "67" Booster Club.

Senior representatives were Sherry Evans and Vicki Powell. Representing the junior class were Mary Lou Moody and Patsy Warren. The sophomore class was represented by Margie Blaker and Jane Terhune.

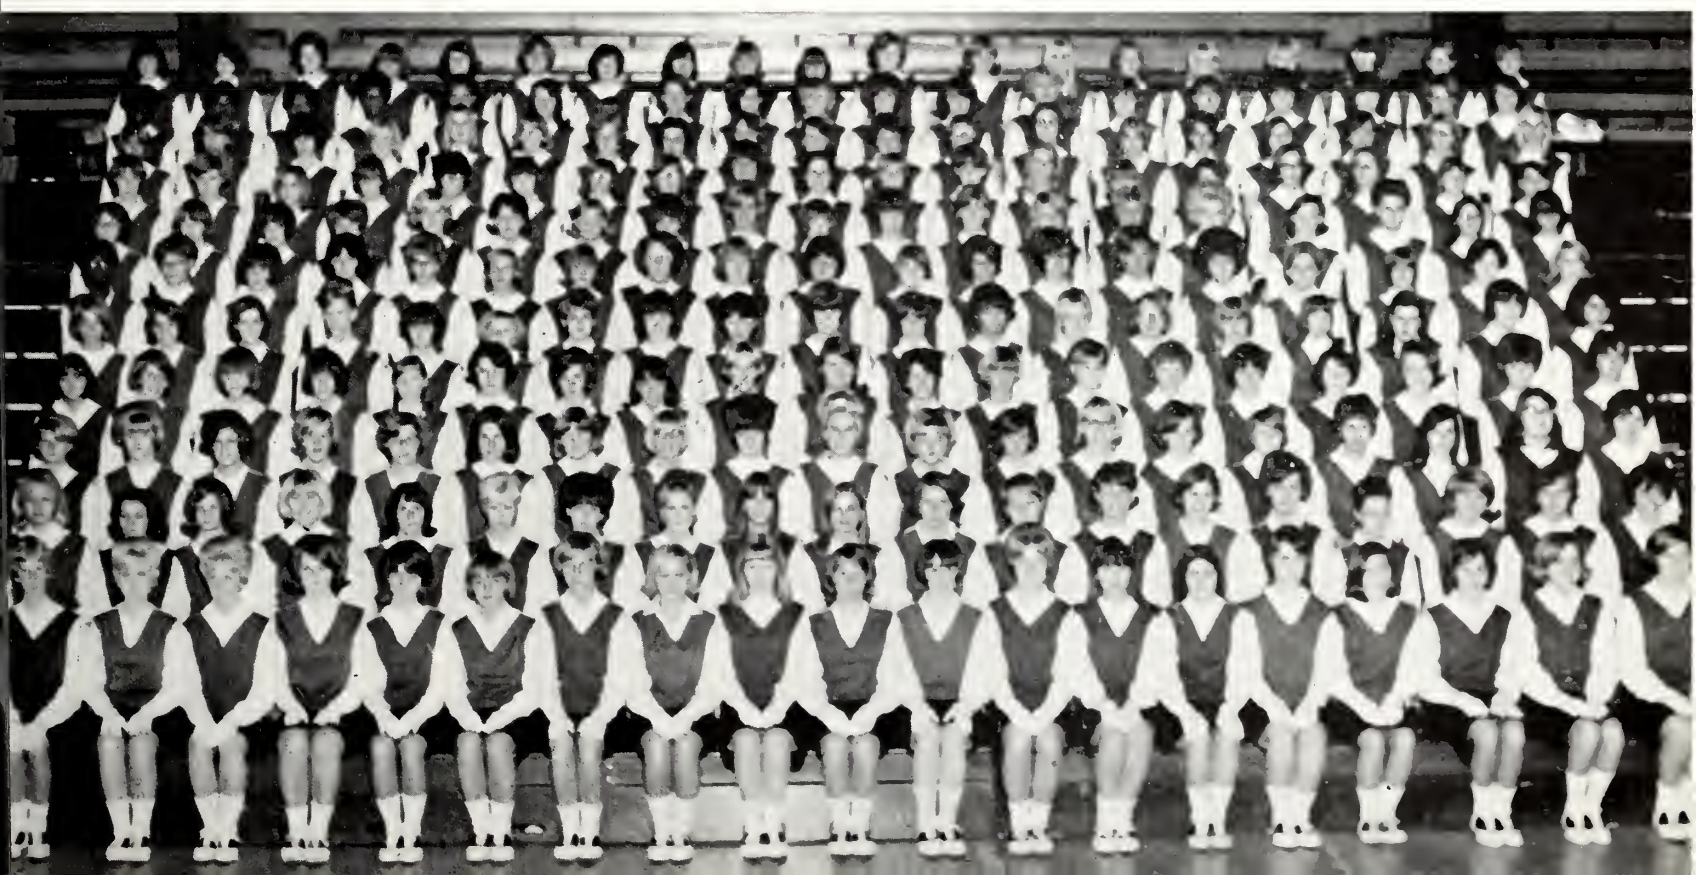

Coach Colescott made arrangements for all the girls to be taken to the New Castle and Lafayette games. The whole club was also escorted to the Holiday Tourney at Kokomo.

LOTS OF SPIRIT! Booster Club officers Pam Dunwoody, Anne Whitcraft, Jackye Cole, and Donna Richcreek hope for another victory as they adjust the marquee for another NCC game.

Lettermen Took Pride In Wearing Marion "M"

OVERLOOKING SCHOOL GROUNDS are "M" Club officers as they wholeheartedly plan for the year's activities.

The Marion High School "M" Club is an honorary organization made up of varsity lettermen who have achieved at least a "C" academically. The club officers were Bob McClelland, president; Doug Peden, vice president; Doug Brown, secretary; Gary Ward, treasurer; and Eric Pfohl, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Gerald Jump served as faculty sponsor.

The organization supported all sports activities and at meetings throughout the year viewed films on such subjects as "1964 Olympics" and "The 1966 Buick Open Golf tournament". At Sectional time the "M" Club attempted to boost school spirit and its treasury by selling the annual badges displaying the Giant's team picture.

New Dimension Resulted In State Fair

Under the direction of Mr. Gene Burns and Mr. Richard Wheeler, the MHS Concert Band was awarded first place honors during Ball State Band Day on September 17, 1966. The award winning selection was "Saints In Concert".

Clinic sessions were held during the year with guest directors instructing our band. Among them were Joseph Owen, director from Indiana State University, and Nilo Harvey from the Selmar Music Company.

The MHS Marching Band made a colorful debut at the Indiana State Fair. In competition with 85 other marching units, the sound of "Blues of Night", "Phedre Overture", and "Taste of Honey" put the marchers in an almost unheard of 25th place for a first time appearance.

Band officers included Mike Burkhart, president; Paul Hillsamer, vice-president; Patty Stewart, secretary; and Kay Plant and Lee Ann Oatess, treasurers.

'67 Choral Groups Displayed Musical Talent

CONCERT CHOIR OFFICERS — Golden Knapp, Susie Callahan, Janet Whybrew, and Dave Douglass find time to rehearse songs to be used at the Christmas Concert.

Concert Choir students were kept busy throughout the year preparing for concerts, contests, and community programs. Choir members sold candy, raising money to help pay for the new robes Cadet Choir purchased. They presented a Christmas concert, a Spring Concert, and in February they combined with the Canto Chorale to sing "The Gloria" with Ball State University providing an orchestra to accompany them. The choir also was host to the Tri-City Music Festival and the Invitational Chorale. In April selected choir members went to Ball State University to perform at Emens Auditorium for other major high school choirs in Indiana and to listen to them perform.

David Douglass served as president while Susie Callahan, vice-president; Golden Knapp, secretary; and Janet Whybrew, treasurer, assisted him.

The MHS Girls' Chorus participated in the Tri-City Music Festival, sang on WTAF-TV and for the Mother-Daughter Tea, as did Concert Choir. The class was composed of select sophomore, junior, and senior girls who were chosen by recommendation. These girls also helped Concert Choir by selling candy. Both choirs were drilled to perfection by Mr. Ritchie Walton, their director.

The students who sang music typical of the 16th and 17th century made up the Madrigal Singers. This select group of musically inclined students put in many after-school hours practicing for their concerts. Members of the Swing Choir entertained quite frequently for various occasions. This group sang popular and show tunes. Under the direction of Mr. Ritchie Walton, the chorus director of MHS, these two Marion High School ensemble groups presented many programs.

Mr. Peter Kobe directed the Sophomore Ensemble, a new musical group consisting of some of the sophomore members of the Cadet Choir.

Appearing in the early 1920's, Marion's first organized instrumental group was under the direction of Mr. Lloyd D. Jones. The orchestra was dropped from the curriculum when Mr. Jones retired. In 1959 the orchestra reappeared under the leadership of Mr. Edward Baas.

This year the orchestra appeared in such activities as Manchester String Orchestra Festival at Manchester College, Mid-State Orchestra Festival at Connersville, Tri-City Festival at Marion, and the Annual Spring Concert held at Jones Auditorium.

The 40 member organization was led by Bob Baker, President; Jeanette Stephenson, Treasurer; and Joyce Mittan and Susan Christopher, Librarians.

The orchestra also provided a Musical background for the All-Girl's Tea besides providing entertainment at numerous concerts, festivals, and contest throughout the school year.

Talent Displayed At Club's Variety Show

SCHEDULING THE YEAR'S ACTIVITIES are Music Appreciation officers seated: Ruth Usher and Sally Butler. Standing: Carol Ober and Ginny Payne.

The Music Appreciation Club was open to any student interested in music. The some 35 members were required to pay dues of 75¢.

Activities of the club included entering a car in the Homecoming Parade and decorating the top floor of building four for Christmas.

A student recital was held in January where all interested students could display their musical abilities to the club. A similar recital was held in early spring for faculty members around the city.

A variety show was held in which students were invited by the club to participate.

Mr. Peter Kobe sponsored the club for the first time. He was assisted by Sally Butler, president; Ruth Usher, vice-president; Carol Ober, secretary; and Ginny Payne, treasurer.

Leading the Marching Band during the 1966-67 school year was a new set of girls with new routines, new name, and a new sponsor. They call themselves the Marion High School Pom Pon Corps. These nine girls plus their eight year old mascot, Jere Glasscock, performed along with the band in various parades.

Giant fans were amused and delighted by the presentation of such routines as one reminiscent of the "Flapper Era" and an impersonation of Santa's helpers.

The girls were dressed in gold sequin outfits with the two featured twirlers clad in black sequins.

Mrs. Richard Wheeler served as sponsor of the corps.

The Future Nurses Association of Marion High School was led by Linda Hulce, president; Nancy Luce, vice-president; Sue Craig, secretary; Pat Carroll, treasurer; and Mrs. Berdean Simmons.

During the 1966-67 school year, the 30 members made nut cups for the Red Cross, and in January they took a tour of the kitchens at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Membership in the club is opened to anyone interested in a medical profession.

Future Teachers See Films, Hear Speaker

Marion High School's Future Teachers of America Club, affiliated with the NEA and the State Future Teachers of America Association was chartered in the fall of 1962 by Mrs. Marie Brown. It provides the members with opportunities to explore the teaching profession. This years activities included a speaker and a film entitled "And Something More".

Money-making projects for the year included a co-sponsored record hop with Student Council. The Howdy Hop and the selling of pins and charms provided money for the annual banquet.

The banquet was held at the Sveden House on May 18. Highlighting the evening were Howard Detamore and John Sutton, who presented a comedy routine. Newly elected May officers were installed in a candle-light ceremony. Presiding over the installation were reigning officers Becky Stewart, President; Cathy Phillips, Vice-President; Susie Losure, Treasurer; and Sally Hall, Secretary.

"Citizenship Around the World" was selected as the theme of the Future Homemakers of 1966-67. This national organization strives to promote a better understanding among all girls and to develop creative leadership in home and community life. The two main projects of the club were A.B.C., America Beautification and Conservation, and L.O.V.E., Life of Voluntary Endeavor.

A style show for new members was presented in September, while the club enjoyed a doll display and talk by the Jewish synagogue in the Spring.

Community work included taking baked goods to handicapped children, singing carols at the County Old-Folks Home, and raising funds for a foreign child.

Enjoying an Easter Vacation trip, eighteen club members and four adults spent March 30th and 31st in Chicago. The group stayed at the Allerton Hotel and visited the Museum of Science and Industry and the Merchandise Mart.

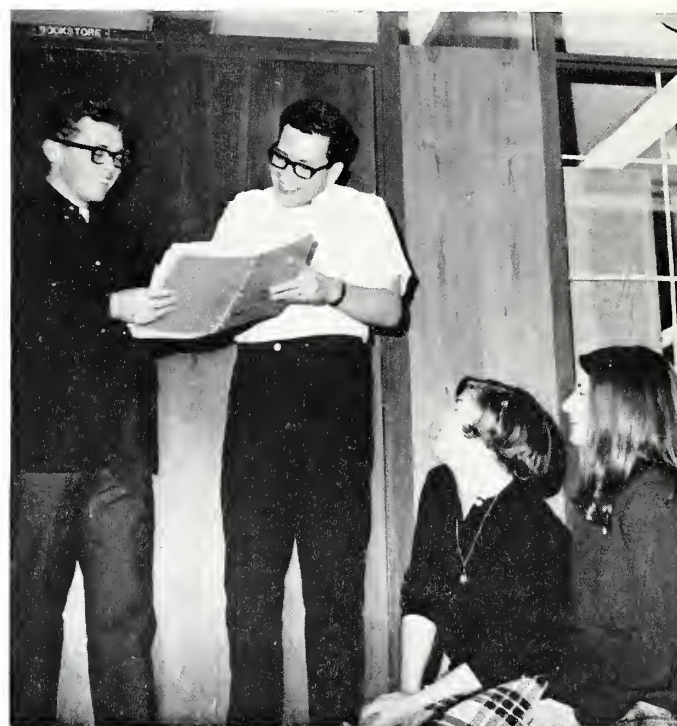

Faith Baird, as President; Caroline Maddox, as vice-president; Patty Hobbs, as secretary; and Charlene Davenport, as treasurer served as the 1966-67 officers.

through Participation

Stage and Stammer, one of the largest co-curricular clubs at Marion High School, was highlighted by the 1966 production of "The Man Who Came To Dinner." Yearly functions of the club included assisting the production of the annual musical, and lending make-up and props to clubs.

The chief money-making project for Stage and Stammer was the annual ribbon sale at Christmas time. Profits from the ribbon were spent on materials for the club and spring banquet, which was held in May.

Awards were distributed for the best leading actress and actor, supporting actress and actor, and bit actor. Awards were also given to the best Thespian, an honorary division of Stage and Stammer, the best Stage and Stammer member, and the top ribbon salesman.

The purpose of Stage and Stammer is to stimulate interest in dramatics. It is composed of sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Presiding over the 151 members of the 1966-67 Stage and Stammer club was Howard Detamore, president; assisted by Carolyn Osburn, vice-president; Alice Torrance, secretary; and Phyllis Brown, treasurer.

ONLY A DOLLAR! exclaims Stage and Stammer member Ellen Horne as students grab for ribbon.

THESPIAN CLUB — Jenny Willbrite, Kathy Bailey, Elaine Boots, Pam Dunwoody, Anne Whitcraft, John Sutton, and Howard Detamore.

Each year outstanding Stage and Stammer members are voted into the Marion chapter of the national Thespian society. Marion received its national charter in 1960 and it is referred to as Troupe 2077.

To enter into the Thespian society a Stage and Stammer member must earn 10 thespian points or 20 Stage and Stammer points. After receiving these points they are then inducted into the society. This year the officers are Pam Dunwoody, President; Elaine Boots, Vice-president; and Teresa Littlefield, Secretary. Mr. James Clark served as the advisor for the Thespians.

Junior Historical Club Attended Model UN

With their main purpose being to stimulate interest in history of Grant County, the Junior Historical Society members accomplished their aims by collecting data, introducing speakers, cleaning, reorganizing and maintaining the Octogenarian Museum at Matter Park.

Members were chosen on the basis of leadership, co-operative spirit, willingness to work, and quality of academic work.

During the year Mr. Jerry Torrance spoke to the club on the Indians of Grant County. The members also attended a tea for the Grant County Historical Society and Junior Historical Societies. They then traveled to the State Jr. Historical meeting held in Indianapolis and also to the Model UN Session held at Anderson College. "Rolling Up A Victory" was the title of the car decorated as a wagon that the JHS members entered in the Homecoming Parade.

Jim Savesky served as president; Cindy Gunion, vice-president; Alice Colbert, secretary; and Norleen Neeley, treasurer. Mr. John Satterthwaite served as the sponsor for JHS.

The MHS Science Club, which has been active since 1935, now has approximately 50 members and is under the direction of Mr. Lewis Huston.

Long hours and hard work produced the 3rd place 1966 Homecoming float titled "Yellow Submarine".

Mr. James McGlaughlin addressed the students on the career of a Hospital Laboratory Technologist and Mr. Steve Bunish spoke on Mineralogy. In January a field trip was taken to the RCA plant of Marion. The club also traveled to Indianapolis.

Officers for the year were Lock Greenough, president; Dan Fortney, vice-president; Alice Packard, secretary; and Jim Ferrell, treasurer.

The members held a picnic at Matter Park to end the '67 school year.

The MHS Business Club was started in 1965 for all students taking at least one business course. Meetings were held on the second Monday of each month. There were approximately 55 students in the '66-67' club. A tour of the offices at Foster Forbes was taken in November. At the December meeting, the Personnel Manager of Foster Forbes was the guest speaker. Murrell's presented a style show during the March meeting, showing the latest fashions for the business man or woman. The main money making project was a co-sponsored record hop with the December's Children providing the music. The club held a social gathering on May 8, 1967 at the end of the year.

Cooperative Office Education was added to MHS as an on-the-job training for business majors. Fourteen students attended school half day and were employed the other half. Meetings were held on the second Wednesday of each month. To raise money the club sold candy and co-sponsored a WOWO record hop. Field trips were taken to the Dana plant of Marion and to Northwestern Indiana Financial Service. To round out the year an employer and employee banquet was held in May.

The Diversified Cooperative Education Program of Marion High School was founded in 1958. During the past two years the program has been directed by Mr. William Peden. DCE has grown and reached its peak during this present school year. The 1966-67 program included forty-three students involved in twenty-nine occupations. Twenty-six employers of the city of Marion provided training stations for these students.

The DCE Club promoted fund-raising projects to sponsor community humanitarian, recreational, and social activities. One of the highlights of the year was the construction of a football Homecoming float that was awarded a second place trophy. Other outstanding events during the 1966-67 school year were the fall cook-out sponsored by Dr. John E. Vogel, the state VICA Leadership Clinic at Indianapolis, the DCE state convention held at the IU Medical Center in Indianapolis, and the state DCE Annual Contest and Awards Convention at Purdue University. The year's program was climaxed with the Employee-Employer Banquet. This dinner was given by the DCE students in honor of the employers who participated in the training program.

The Distributive Education Club was organized in 1960 to promote education in salesmanship through the cooperation of the employer and employee. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Wray, the 33 members worked diligently toward their future careers as salesmen of tomorrow. The DE club activities consisted of entering four cars in the homecoming parade, selling candy, and helping decorate the hallways for the Christmas season. They also gave a Christmas party at the children's home, and during Thanksgiving made up baskets of food for the needy families.

The club had delegates and candidates at the state elections. At the regional, state, and national contests, they won honors for Marion High School.

Closing a rewarding year of activities was the employer-employee banquet held on May 16. Businessmen who had cooperated with DE club were guests of honor at the annual dinner.

Club officers Linda Ireland, president; Pat Culley, vice-president; Terry Schultz, Treasurer; Becci Sartain, Historian; and Karen Riddle, associate vice-president were installed at the Initiation banquet held early in the year.

DISCUSSING plans for club meetings are DE officers Karen McKee, Becki Sartain, Mike Eakins, Terry Shultz, Linda Ireland, and Karen Riddle.

The 1967 Hi-Y club was kept busy with a fun-filled year of activities and service to the community.

During the year, Hi-Y had many guest speakers attending their meetings. Dr. Fisher, who spoke on the space program, and Doug Mohns of the Fort Wayne Komets, who spoke about his career in professional hockey, were just a few of these distinguished guests.

The students of Marion High were able to participate in another spectacular homecoming bonfire through the help of the Hi-Y club. Hi-Y also kept in the swing of winter sports by seeing a hockey game at Fort Wayne and participating in a YMCA basketball league, which ended up with a final record of 5-4.

The club consisted of 50 members who have a "C" or better average, and who were members of the YMCA. Planning the years activities were Hi-Y officers Jay Long, president; Joe Thorne, vice-president; Dave Kessler, treasurer; Gary Messersmith, secretary; Bob McClelland, chaplain; and the advisor, Mr. Mark Baldwin.

SHOULD COUPLES GO STEADY? MHS Y-Teens ask Tom Gardner, Mr. Ray Farley, and Gary Messersmith their opinion of dating habits among teen-agers.

Candy Sale, VA Work Promoted Good Will

"COME ALONG WITH ME TO THE SWEETHEART TREE" hummed Y-Teens as they decorated the YWCA for their annual formal dance.

"COME CARVE YOUR NAME NEXT TO MINE" sing the Epics as the couples dance around "The Sweetheart Tree" — the 1967 theme of the annual Y-Teen formal dance.

The goal established by MHS Y-Teens was to promote fellowship among women and girls of all races, religions, and nationalities. The '67 club was divided into three groups according to grades. Each group was led by a cabinet member and co-chairman.

Aiding worthy organizations, MHS Y-Teens gave monthly programs and parties for the patients at the Veterans Hospital. Collecting food for the needy at Thanksgiving was the function of the traditional "Can-Can" dance. During December the club decorated for and helped with the customary "Hanging of the Greens". In order to raise money, the Y-Teens sold candy to aid their treasury and to give a television set to the children's home. On March 6 a panel was brought before the girls to answer questions on the latest rages in dating. Long hours of work and fun went into the making of the Homecoming float, "Holy Hatchet! Let's Chop 'em Down!" "The Sweetheart Tree" was the theme for the 1966-67 annual formal dance held February 18. The Epics provided the dance music for the approximately 80 couples who attended the event. The colors of green, white, and gold created a romantic spring atmosphere with a 12 foot gold tree covered with tiny white twinkle lights and golden hearts accenting the decorations.

Mrs. Lloyd Blaker, Mrs. Jacquelyn Keefer, and Mrs. Norma Allen served as faculty sponsors.

Interested in learning more about Germany, its people, and its culture, the German club took a bus trip to Indianapolis in October. The members dined at a German restaurant and saw two German movies. They also traveled to Chicago to eat at The Berghof and to see "Die Zauberflote" ("The Magic Flute"), an opera by Mozart.

In March they held a record hop at the MHS cafeteria. Bringing the 1966-67 club activities to a close was the annual German Club Banquet held at the Holiday Inn.

President of the 1966-67 German club was Nathan Leech. He was aided by Jane Barney, vice-president; Jeanette Willhite, secretary; Jim Savesky, treasurer; Mary Lou Moody, sergeant-at-arms; Alice Colbert, parliamentarian; and Angie Cotterell, historian. GAY PAREE! French Club officers pose for their Cactus picture in front of the Eiffel Tower, a creation of an MHS French student.

The French Club, which is open to any French student, again played an active part of the MHS language department. It was organized shortly after World War 1 by Mademoiselle Marie-Rose Laufer of France; the club was then dropped from the curriculum for 20 years. Miss Carolyn Wilhite, a former French teacher revived it in 1958.

Members decorated a car for the Homecoming parade in which officers, Tom Gardner, president; Jill Hamilton, vice-president; Judy Jackson, secretary; and Linda Adams, treasurer, rode to represent their club.

Among the year's activities were a Christmas party held at the school, a Christmas Carol Program on TV, and various speakers who had traveled abroad. They also traveled to Salamonie State Park for a picnic and enjoyed a delicious dinner at a French Restaurant.

In the spring French members hosted the annual International Festival at which time members of all language clubs combined for a dinner of foreign foods and a promotion of fellowship between the various language clubs.

Sponsors for the year were Mr. Robert McPherson, Mrs. Barbara Phelan, and Miss Beverly Denbo.

to La Universidad Internacional in Mexico

This year's Spanish Club, under the direction of Mrs. Lael Littlefield and Mrs. Sharon Conyers, again undertook the annual project of sponsoring two students to study in Saltillo, Mexico for six weeks. Last year these scholarships were awarded to Caroline Maddox and Grace Day. The selling of candy by the club members provided the money for the awards.

Other activities enjoyed by the members were the entering of a float in the Homecoming Parade, a Christmas party which was climaxed by the breaking of the Pinata, presenting a skit at the annual International Festival, and a picnic held in the spring at Matter Park to close the year's activities.

Informative lectures and colorful slides provided opportunities for members to learn customs and portions of the geography of many of the Spanish speaking nations in the world.

Presiding over their monthly meetings were officers Millard Heer, President; Gary Costa assisting as Vice-President; Gregg Harris, Treasurer; Gwen Barber, Secretary; and Jule Lytle, Program Chairman.

HAVE A DRINK! Latin Club officers — Robert Taylor, Susan Frazier, Stephen Church, Kenton Clark, Janet Storey, and Richard Booth — pause for a break after a JCL meeting.

Junior Classical League activities at Marion High School during 1966-67 were many and varied. Latin students from surrounding high schools were guests at a gala Saturnalia party on December 22, with approximately ninety in attendance. The Roman Saturnalia harvest holiday began on December 17 with the exchange of gifts in honor of the god, Saturn.

In March the local club held a record hop and also sold stationery picturing Marion High School. These two projects helped to provide registration fees to National JCL Convention in Tucson, Arizona and transportation to the Indiana State Junior Classical League Convention at Ball State University in April where local member James Ferrell presided as president.

Plans for the Roman-banquet-picnic at Matter Park have been made by this year's officers Richard Booth, Janet Storey, and Kenton Clark — consuls; Robert Taylor, historicus; Susan Frazier, scriba; and Stephen Church, quaestor. Miss Agnes Scott was sponsor.

Requirements for membership to Latin Club are to be enrolled in Latin with a C average. Out of class students who have completed two years of Latin study and are maintaining a present C scholastic average are also eligible.

Leading the Russian Club in their yearly activities were 1966-67 officers: Pat Hamilton, president; Bob Chambers, vice-president; Linda Poor, secretary; Art Banks, treasurer; and Tom Younts, deputy. Mr. John Beckley, Russian Instructor at MHS, aided the club as sponsor.

Near the semester break, the club held an authentic Russian dinner at which all the food was cooked by the members of the club. Later they traveled to New Castle to participate in a Russian dinner with the Russian Club of New Castle. A bake sale of Russian food was held in the spring.

Instructive trips to McCulloch Jr. High School to arouse interest in the language, Russian Day at the high school, and a WOWO record hop held jointly with the Spanish Club rounded out the yearly activities for the Russian Club.

How about that? Sports editor Dave Bulter illustrates layout principles to reporters Dave Balsbaugh and Ron Mondrick.

Deadlines, galleys, and headlines were among the many things which the eleven members of the Survey staff had to keep in mind as they published the bi-weekly newspaper.

The main added attraction of the year was the use of color in many of the Survey issues. Survey members also conducted a special campaign to secure Christmas ads from various local merchants. At the start of the second semester the Survey staff sold subscriptions a second time to cover sales missed the first semester.

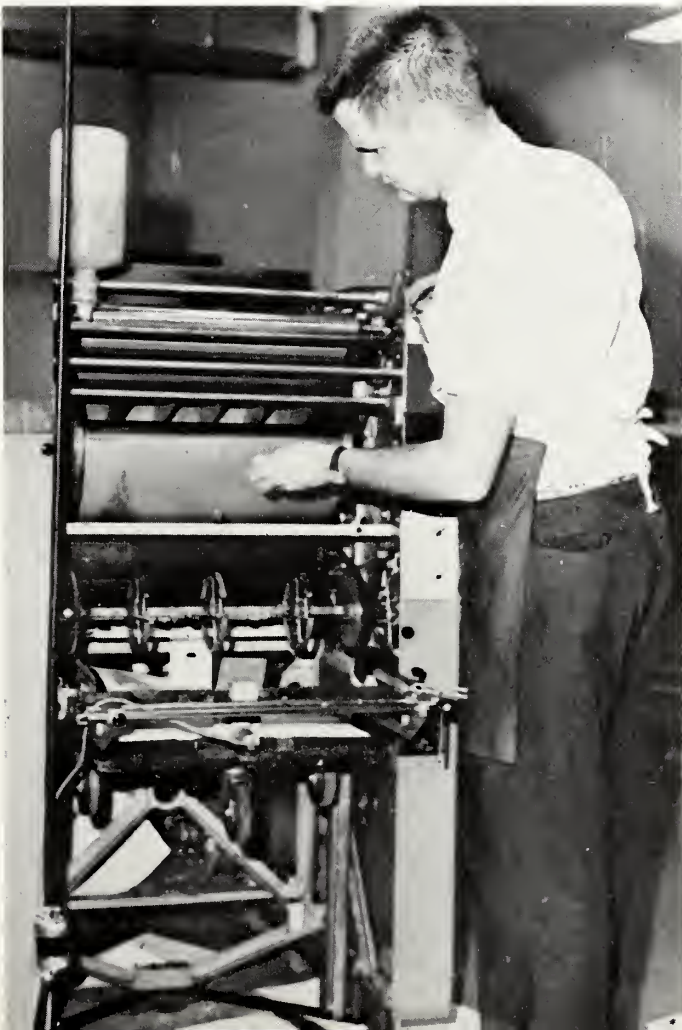

Keeping operations running was Lana Stinnett, editor, who attended Journalism Institute at Indiana University last summer. Many other schools were also represented at the Journalism Institute.

Pat Small and Lana Stinnett represented Marion High School at the NSPA conference at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago on November 25 and 26. The Conference was presented by the National Scholastic Press Association and the Journalism Education Association. The Survey staff was composed of ten juniors and one sophomore who were chosen by the advisor, Mr. James Garwood. Survey was not all work though, for along with other publication groups, the Survey staff members entertained freshmen journalists from Jones and McCulloch to acquaint them with the Marion High Program.

HEADING THE 66-67 SURVEY, Lana Stinnett and Pat Small go through the daily routine of publishing the school newspaper.

Eager and enthusiastic about its jobs, the 1967 Cactus staff set off the year by its annual Cactus drive with posters hung around the school and a skit on WMHS-TV. The Cactus staff provided bargain day for the students at which time they could buy a Cactus for $4.75. Also an installment plan was offered to the student body, giving it a greater opportunity to buy the book.

The size was increased to a record total of 208 pages, with the theme being "67 Was The Year". The 1966-67 Cactus included fifty-six pages of color features and two pages of patron ads which replaced eighteen pages of advertising.

Editor-in-chief, Becky Stewart, and assistant editor, Susie Losure, represented Marion High for two weeks at the Indiana High School Journalism Institute at Indiana University. Various other schools in the state were also represented.

Mr. James Garwood, new Journalism advisor for MHS, accompanied Becky Stewart and assistant editor, Jan Stevens, to the 39th annual NSPA Conference in Chicago on November 25 and 26, 1966.

Working to meet deadlines for copy, headlines, and pictures in the seventy-first Cactus, the twenty-three staff members proved that "67 Was The Year".

Marion High School Cactus, Survey, and Journalism students hosted the department's first Journalism Night on October 18, 1966, for eight surrounding schools. The main purpose was to share ideas on yearbook and newspaper publication with other staffs. The evening started with an informal carry-in dinner. Mr. Frank Woschitz of Paragon Yearbook showed slides on good layouts and covers. Mrs. Marilyn Walker, former Cactus and Survey advisor, was the guest of honor.

Quill and Scroll, the international honor society of high school journalists, became a part of the Marion High School this year. The organization was opened to members who were in the top third of their class academically and enrolled in a journalism class. Mr. James Garwood selected nine people by performances in class.

The topic for the debates was Resolved: "The United States Foreign Aid Should be Limited to Non-Military Assistance." Speaking on the affirmative were Ronn Neff and Mike Ferguson. The negative team was composed of Rick Ballard and Lock Greenough.

Out of their first 22 rounds of debate, the team achieved 17 wins.

On December 10, 1966, our team hosted a debate with sixteen other schools participating.

For Sports

The split-second timing of the quarterback, an unexpected layup, the grueling moments of a "miler" were the spirit of MHS.

The long hours of practice and winning teamwork made Marion a top competitor for athletic as well as scholastic awards.

Good sportsmanship and cooperation were important assets to athletes and student alike as "67 was the year."

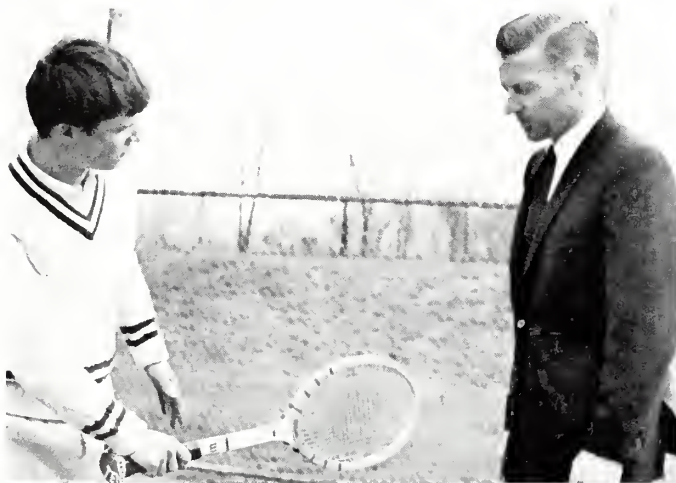

Coaches Built

"All right you guys, get moving," was a familiar sound from the coaches of Marion High. These dependable sounds echoed all during the 66-67 seasons. From the Gridiron to the hardwood, Marion's coaches put out every effort to see that their team would finish victoriously and represent the high school in the best of fashion. The athletes from MHS were fortunate to have leaders with a vast knowledge of the sport and a understanding that brought Marion much recognition.

The Marion Giant varsity football team finished its first undefeated season in the history of the school with seven wins, no losses, and two ties. The team established sixteen team records, and twenty-four individual marks.

Marion led off the season by defeating Mississinewa, 21-7. The Giants then traveled to Noblesville and Richmond to pick up another win and deadlock their first NCC battle respectively. Then returning to their home field the following week the mighty Giants crushed Muncie Central, 59-0.

The Giants' next encounter brought Huntington to Marion for a defeat of 27-7. The Giants once again were on the road traveling to Kokomo. The Giants gave a tremendous show by leading the game most of the way. But in the final minutes of play the Kats came back to tie the game 26-26.

Returning home, once again the Giants were faced with another NCC play-off at the Giants Homecoming. The Marion gridmen soundly defeated the Anderson Indians 27-6. The team then played Logansport and kept their NCC hopes alive by beating the Berries, 48-12. Playing their top football game of the year, the Giants whitewashed Garret by the score of 63-0. Unfortunately, the last game of the season with Frankfort was cancelled because of bad weather.

The Little Giants had a season record of five wins and three losses. Under the guiding eye of the coaches, they picked up needed experience for next year's varsity action.

The reserve team began its season by defeating Muncie South, 21-6. The next game ended with a close finish, as the Giants won over Huntington, 13-7. The next game shut out Logansport in a real battle, 6-0. They were beaten in two hard fought games by Kokomo, 20-6 and Anderson, 18-7. Meeting Muncie Central, they were victorious, 25-12, and overwhelming Mississinewa, 29-13, produced another victory. The Giants in their final game were beaten by Kokomo, 26-13, for the second time in the season.

The reserves fought hard all year and showed signs of readiness for the coming varsity campaign. They were also fortunate in having a fine coaching staff which helped the team to its winning season.

The Marion Giants Cross Country team, under the watchful eye of Coach Oatess Archey, completed another successful season by winning seven, losing five, and placing fourth in the sectional meet. The Giants also placed sixth in the North Central Conference Meet.

Leading the squad this year was captain Ed Dixon and running mates Alan Miltenburger, Craig Edwards, Paul Sairs, and Gary Brendel.

The Giant harriers began the season in fine fashion by downing the Bennett Trojans. The Giants then defeated Middletown by a large margin. Facing top teams the Giants lost three consecutive meets to Anderson, Kokomo, and Markleville. But the Giants bounced back and defeated Madison Heights of Anderson and then continued their winning ways against Muncie Southside. After losing to Muncie Central the harriers outraced Mississinewa and Wabash in a triangular meet. Marion split a three way meet by defeating Muncie Southside again and losing to a strong New Castle team. Out of seventeen teams in the running, they captured fourth place in the sectional tournament.

Although hampered by illness and injuries, they compiled a winning season. Coach Oatess Archey felt that they had a fairly successful campaign. The varsity squad consisted mainly of underclassmen and next year the team will have eight returning lettermen.

"G-I-A-N-T-S fight, Giants, Giants, Win Tonight!" was a typical yell of the cheerleaders throughout the year. Leading the booster club, decorating the halls, and boosting enthusiasm were only a few of the duties of varsity cheerleaders Jane Barney, Patty Benjamin, Linda Colescott, Nancy Florea, and Paula Weaver. The girls gave their all-out effort in the cold of the football season and through the hectic basketball games and tournaments.

The reserve cheerleaders, who yelled for the reserve teams and assisted the varsity cheerleaders were Cathy Fear, Gretchen Leech, Bonnie Rankin, Sheila Scott, and Cathy Strieb. During the tourney the cheerleaders helped perfect the Girls Booster Club and raised tourney spirit.

The freshman cheerleaders, who boosted the freshman Giants to many victories, included; Marilyn Detamore, Jan Smith, Cindy Whitlock, Chris Woodard, Monica Woodring, and Vicki Wysong.

"Fire Up Giants!" was a familiar phrase around Marion High School that helped bring a successful season — sectional and regional victories, and Holiday Tourney wins.

Although hampered by injuries and illness, the Giants posted a 21-6 season record. Leading scorers were John Sutter (464), Richie Keen (357), Doug Brown (354), Doug Peden (353), and John Meade (214). Well-balanced scoring helped the team throughout the season. The team's motto, "sweat," spurred the team on during the entire season and the tournaments.

Marion began the season by defeating its first seven opponents, Peru, Wabash, Rochester, Anderson, Tipton, Kokomo, and Runtinton before falling to the Fort Wayne Central Tigers 69-67. Then at the Holiday Tourney the Giants handicapped by illness, managed to beat Tipton and then defeat Kokomo in the final game 63-61. This ended 1966 with a 9-1 record for the Giants. Colescott and his team celebrated the new year by defeating the Richmond Red Devils 70-65. The next two weeks were tough for the Giant, for they lost to New Castle 75-63 and Lafayette Jeff 77-66. This finished the Giants' hopes of repeating as NCC champs.

The fired-up Giants then reeled off three straight victories before falling to the Logansport Berries. Their final victory over Muncie Central gave them a season record of 15-5.

The Giants encountered few difficulties in the first two games of the sectional, defeating Fairmount 72-46 and stunning a quick Mississinewa team 80-55. But trouble began in the championship game Marion tied with Elwood 60-60 and went into an overtime period, finishing on top with a last second tip-in by John Sutter 65-62.

The following weekend the Giants traveled to the Regional at Anderson, where the team smashed Carmel 90-69. In the night encounter, Marion avenged an earlier loss by beating Madison Heights of Anderson 80-77 in a hard fought battle. The next few days brought a Giant cry of "on to Fort Wayne!"

Semi-State action brought Marion another victory by swishing the nets at a heated pace and beating Kokomo for the third time in the season, 78-64. Hopes for the Semi-State's nets and a chance to advance to the finals at Indianapolis were brought to an end by a determined Fort Wayne South team, 68-51.

Successful Basketball Year With 15 Wins

The Marion reserve basketball squad finished the 1966-67 season with an outstanding record of 15-5. Under the first year leadership of Bill McColly, the little Giants showed a great deal of potential for future varsity years.

Led by juniors Kim Manwell, Larry Ward and sophomores Jovan Price, Jerry Caudill and Ned Wrencher, the Giants were a well rounded ball club that always kept improving.

Lose 6 Varsity Lettermen, Gain Reserves

LETTERMAN JOHN GARDNER ties up his New Castle opponent in hopes of a quick pin.

The wrestling team lost five varsity wrestlers through graduation last year who were replaced by underclassmen or new boys to the sport. Coach Rex Wuerthner and assistant Gary Lindsey are both third year men who led the Marion Giant wrestling team to a seventh in the conference, third in the sectional, and second in the New Haven Tourney.

The seniors coming through the season are Bret Lucas, Gary Hunter, John Gardner, Bill Norton Pete Lonngren, and Joe Swihart, with team value respectively.

Bret Lucas was the grappler with the most points, takedowns and pins. Along with being voted the most valuable wrestler, Lucas won the New Haven Tourney and championships. The record for the quickest takedown and pin was held by Gary Hunter with six seconds and nineteen seconds respectively. Hunter also came through the sectional championship. John Gardner, a four year veteran, captured both the conference and sectional championships.

This year the mental attitude award went to Bill Norton.

Career records of the seniors are: Bret Lucas won nineteen and lost three; Bill Norton won seven and lost two; Gary Hunter won forty-four, lost eighteen, and tied one; John Gardner won thirty and lost twenty-five. Pete Lonngren won eleven, lost twenty three, and tied one; Joe Swihart won two and lost twelve.

Promising lettermen expected to return next year are Tony Michaud, Kermit Botkin, Dennis Chappel, Dennis Spidel, John Price, and Alan Miltenberger. The three year veterans among these wrestlers are Michaud, Botkin, and Miltenberger.

Marion Giant Tankers

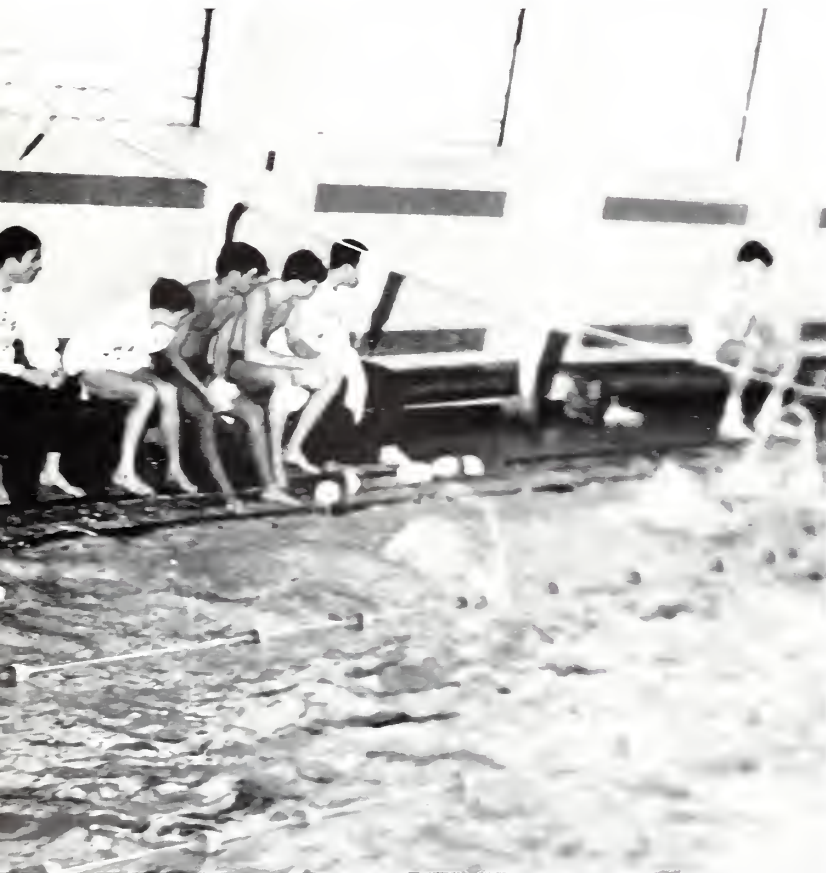

The Giant swimmers completed their second season in history with seven wins and seven losses while finishing third in the NCC meet and sixth in the sectional.

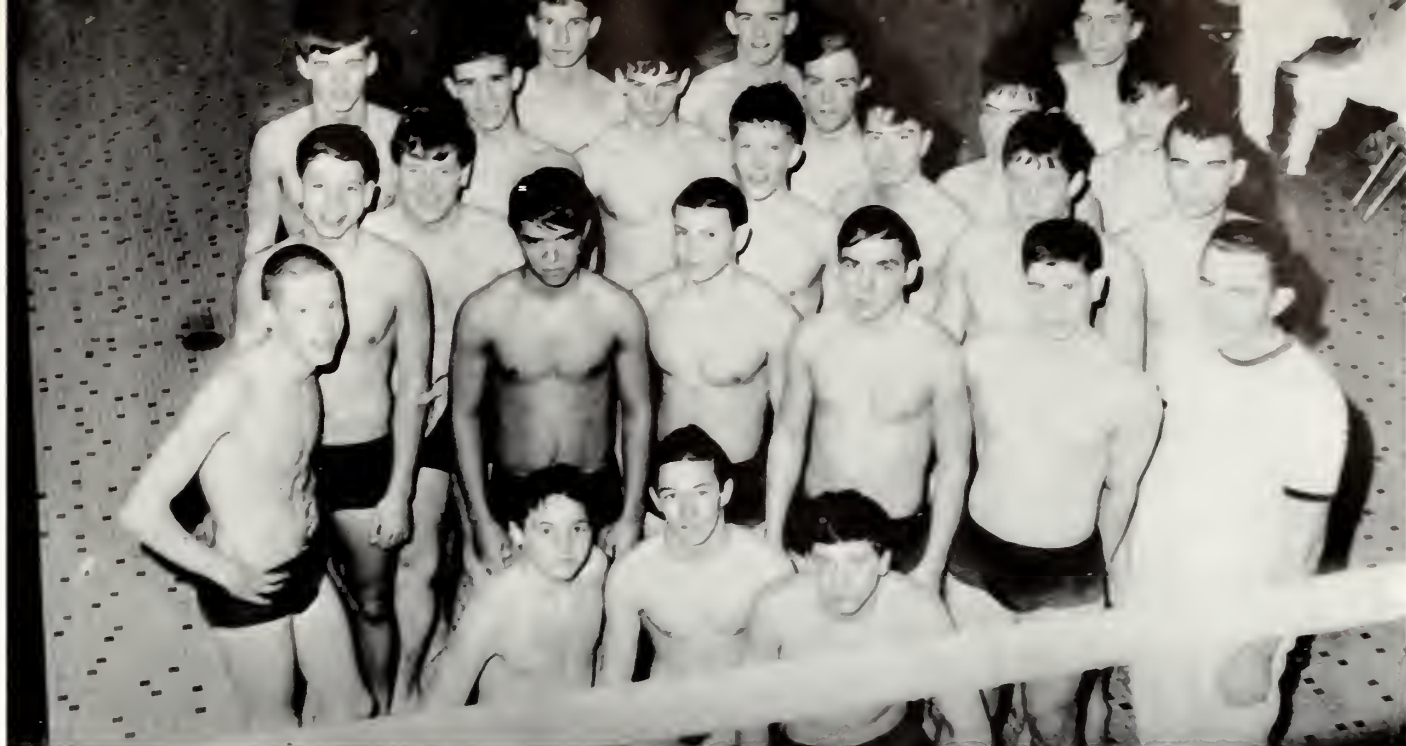

Led by consistent scoring performances from underclassmen Ed Brown, Mike Roxborough, Hugh McClelland and Chris Rhetts. Anchored by solid performances from juniors, Todd Curran and Hugh McClelland, seniors, Nathan Leech and Bob McClelland, the swimmers were a pleasant surprise in the Marion athletic program.

Ed Brown, an outstanding sophomore diver, was beaten only twice in dual meets and also achieved the honor of becoming Marion's first and only NCC champion in swimming. Other top performers were Mike Roxborough, in the individual medley and 400 yard freestyle, and by Hugh McClelland, in the 50 yard freestyle. The 400 yard relay team of Bob and Hugh McClelland, Chris Rhetts, and Nathan Leech was remarkable as they finished second in the NCC, third in the sectional and twelfth in the state finals.

The swimming teams top events were diving, individual medley, 400 yard freestyle, 50 yard freestyle and 400 yard freestyle relay team.

Marion is looking to the future with twelve lettermen returning for the 67-68 season with only three of these seniors. It is hoped that the Giants can continue surprising opponents and become one of the highly respected teams in the State and the NCC.

Underclassmen Fill in

Coach Oatess Archey had the problem of rebuilding a team after the squad lost much of its strength last year. To help him out the Giants produced lettermen Doug Brown, Howard Johnson, Craig Edwards, Ed Dixon, Gary Brendel and Larry Rankin.

The trackmen worked hard throughout the season to improve and so succeeded. The schedule of '67 went as follows:

Meet Tough Opposition During '67 Campaign

Veteran players formulated the 1967 Giant baseball team. Marion, under the direction, for the third year, of Coach Dick Persinger and his assistant Bill McColly, developed successful techniques with a strong pitching staff and experienced offense and defense that brought Marion many victories.

Returning lettermen included seniors: Randy Johnson, Charlie Arrendale, Jack Raabe, Bob McClelland, Ritchie Keen, Carl Fenstermaker, and Doug Peden. Underclassmen were Hugh McClelland, Frank Wright, Larry Ward, John Meade, and Steve Tuttle. The team practiced and played home games at Lincoln Field.

Returning Netmen Make-up Tennis Team

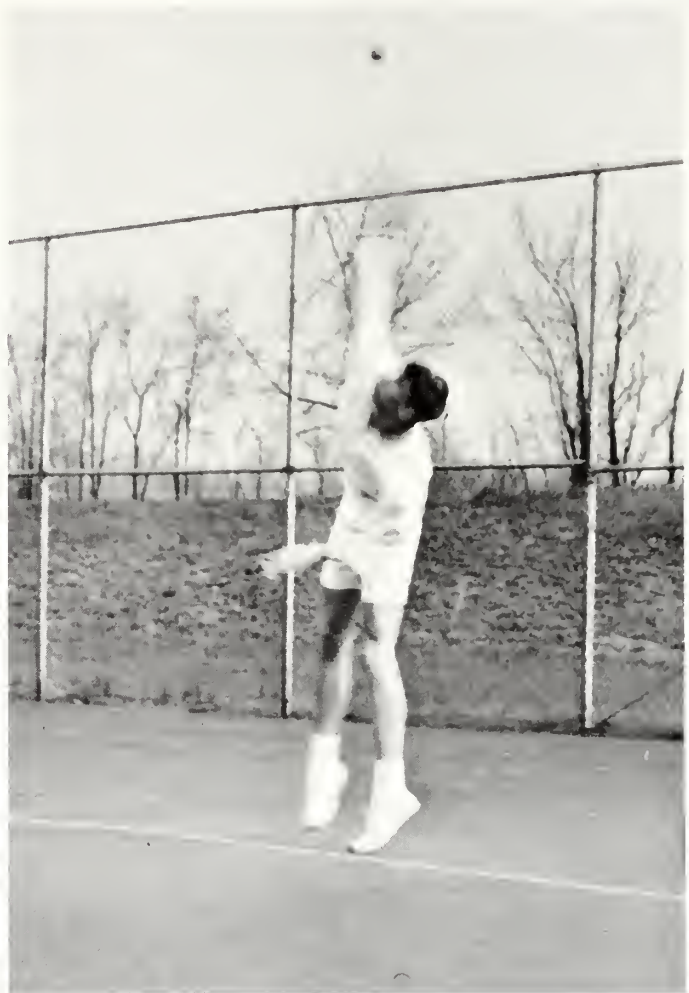

TOP PERFORMERS on the Tennis Squad, Bill Waymire, Jim Burns, Joe Sutter, Mark Zuckerman, John Sutter.

The Marion tennis squad coached by Mr. George Kind, faced formidable opponents but many returning letterman helped for a strong season.

The Giants had six lettermen back from the '66 season. Leading the returnees was John Sutter 6-7 senior who held down the number one position for three consecutive years. Other returning lettermen were Joe Sutter, Reed Maidenburg, Jim Burns, Bill Waymire and Mark Zuckerman. The Giants also had many fine underclass prospects, who, through hard work and long hours of practice, made the varsity members strive even more for perfection.

The Giants practiced at Matter Park and also had their home matches there. Mr. Kind put the racketeers through many hours of practice which made the Marion tennis team an NCC and state wide power.

"SERVE THAT BALL" number one ceded John Sutter puts power behind each serve.

A FAST TAKE-DOWN AND PIN runs through the minds of every Giant wrestler.

The Freshman football, basketball, and track teams of 1966-67 all completed successful seasons under the watchful eyes of their coaches.

Football coaches J. R. Price and Larry Masters guided the young footballers to a season record of 5-1 with victories over Anderson Central, Huntington, Kokomo, Mississinewa, and Anderson South. Their only loss was to city rival Jones, in a very hard fought game in which both teams showed fine potential for the upcoming varsity years.

in Athletic Activities

THROUGH THE GRINDS, Freshman athletes show strains as they bid for team victory.

LEAPS AND BOUNDS, quick take-off and long jump both go together in the makings of a good broad jumper.

Freshman Basketball for the year brought Marion up against some strong foes including conference foe Kokomo. The main purpose for the team was to build some boys for future varsity teams. With the coaching of J. R. Price they were successful on this.

The track team brought freshmen together with the varsity at practice and helped insert drive for the 1967 season. The coaches who led the boys through the season were J. R. Price and Fritz Shank.

The freshmen teams in all the sports showed potential. Win or lose they possessed good sportmanship that is the backbone in Marion High School athletics.

'67 Was The Year → For People

Seniors looked forward to spring and graduation. Thoughts of the future crowded their minds. Juniors were anxious to attain the status of seniors. Sophomores chatted about activities as juniors next year and freshmen were finally becoming sophomores. The faculty was ready for vacation as another busy, but fun-filled, year folded behind them. The large student body and faculty proved that '67 Was The Year.

Bernard McKenzie, Mr. DeMoine Frye, Mr. Morris Ramsey, Mrs. James McKown, and Mr. Samuel McKaig.

First Elected School Board Allotted Funds

'67 was the year MHS students came to know and appreciate the efforts of the administration and faculty in making Marion High School a more effective educational unit. Because a wider range of subjects was offered, the number of teachers was increased by four. In addition, several faculty members were responsible for initiating new activities and organizations, such as the debate team and the Cooperative Office Educational Club.

Throughout the year, MHS experienced various changes. Within the guidance department, Mr. A. A. Vitello was replaced as dean of boys by Mr. Virgil Kirkpatrick, and Mr. Russell Miller was succeeded as counselor by Mr. Dick Persinger. Vacancies in the faculty were filled by Mr. Ed DeVries, Mr. Duane Hodgkin, Mr. Pete Redmond, and Mr. Joseph Zegarra. Also, some familiar faces took on new names as several teachers married.

After school hours, the teachers again found themselves together in such activities as the faculty bowling league and Sunday basketball sessions at the coliseum. Some teachers added to their work loads by teaching evening adult classes. Others spent many hours planning meetings and working for the organizations they sponsored. Still others were assigned to chaperon weekend record hops in the school cafeteria.

Regular meetings of the Marion Teachers Association were held four times during the year, at which programs were presented concerning professional development. Functions of the association were assigned to various standing committees, such as the Salary and Qualifications Committee, the Publicity and Public Relations Committee, the Ethics Committee, and the Welfare Committee. At the end of the year, the MTA presented one hundred dollar awards to two seniors who were planning to become teachers.

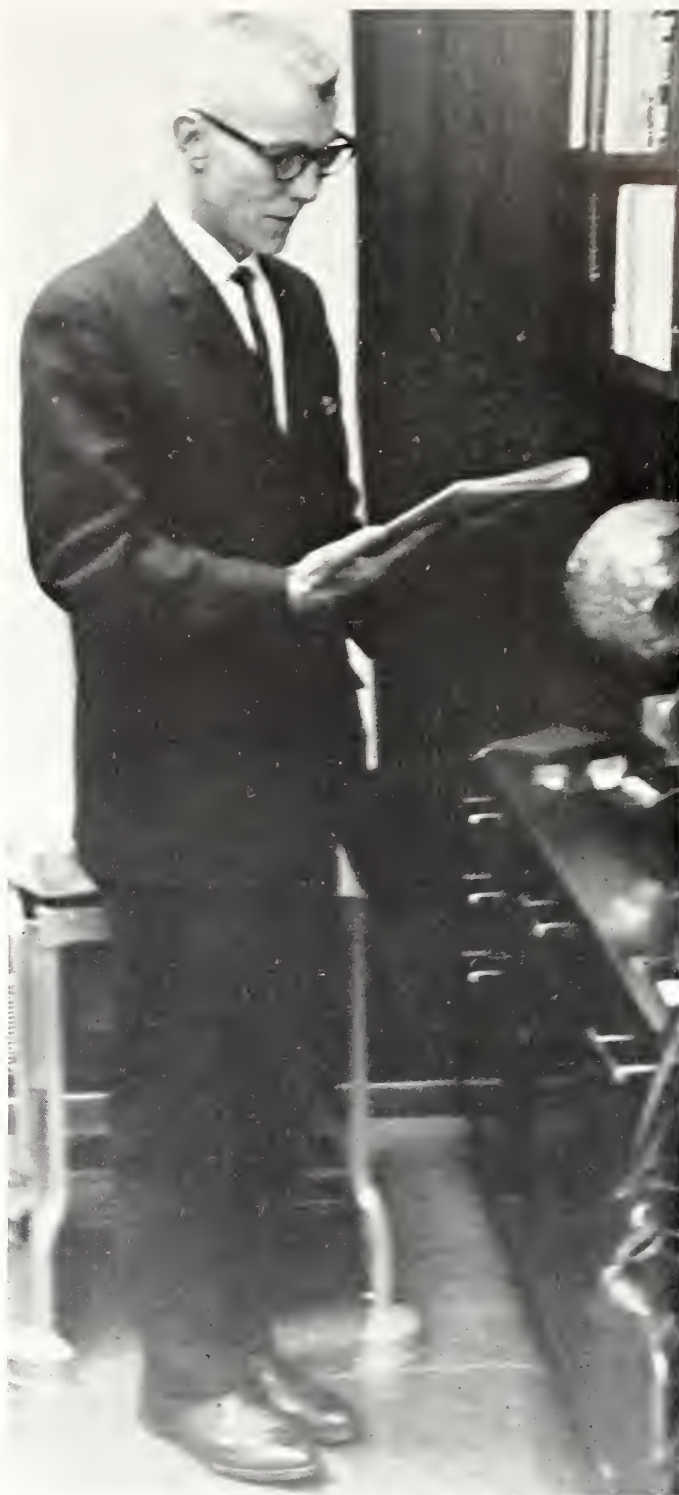

For the first time in the history of the Marion Community Schools, an entirely elected Board of School Trustees controlled the system. Many meetings this year were devoted to a study of space needs and ways to provide accommodations for more students. An important study centered around the proposed auditorium and physical education plant that will be the completion of Marion High School. High school auditoriums throughout Indiana and in Michigan were visited by a committee who reported to the Board their findings concerning the workability and facilities in the buildings they viewed. Another committee presented the results of a comprehensive study about the proposed physical education unit. In March, the School Board appropriated the funds to begin the actual building of Unit Four at MHS.

Helping to regain stability in the school system after a period of administrative turnover are Mr. Bernard McKenzie, superintendent of schools, and Mr. Arnold Spilly, principal of Marion High School. In the relatively short tenure of office, each has proved his administrative abilities. Both have become increasingly involved in such forward-looking programs as the Indiana Public School Study Council and the MHS building program.

Mr. McKenzie has been in Marion as superintendent for three years. After receiving his degrees, Bachelor of Science and Master of Arts, from Ball State, he held positions as classroom teacher, counselor, dean of boys, and assistant superintendent. Mr. McKenzie is interested in young people and often finds himself involved in solving the problems that arise between young people and their parents. Although a busy man, he tries to find time for his hobbies, reading and spectator sports.

After teaching for four years and serving as a junior high school principal for eight years, Mr. Spilly came to MHS, where he has been principal for two years. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Indiana Central and his Master of Science degree from Butler, which qualified him for the duties of chief administrator. When away from his responsibilities as principal, Mr. Spilly enjoys reading, hunting, and camping.

To Complete Building

MR. BERNARD MCKENZIE, as superintendent, supervises intra-school activities, hires personnel, and heads the School Board.

MR. ARNOLD SPILLY, principal of MHS, directs curriculum development, assigns teachers to classes, and supervises matters of finance within the high school.

MR. CLARK FOLGATE, director of secondary curriculum, helps teachers select materials for use in their classes and assigns student teachers.

MR. HORACE LOVE is an assistant superintendent who is occupied as business manager. Also an assistant superintendent is Mr. Gary Weesner, who is in charge of personnel and instruction.

Able Administrators Controlled Instruction,

MR. JOHN MULLINS, as assistant business manager, has financial duties concerned with transportation and purchasing.

Although their headquarters are not located on the MHS campus, several administrators are directly involved with the high school. Their purpose is to coordinate MHS with the other city schools to form a more effective educational unit.

Mr. Gary Weesner, who is assistant superintendent in charge of personnel and instruction, earned both his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Ball State. Before taking his present position, he held jobs as classroom teacher and elementary principal.

In his eighth year as assistant superintendent is Mr. Horace Love, a graduate of Indiana University with A.B. and M.A. degrees. He has been a classroom teacher, a high school principal, and a superintendent of schools. He also now serves as business manager.

After teaching in Marion for six years, Mr. John Mullins is now in his first year as assistant business manager. He received his B.S. and M.A. degrees from Ball State and his M.S.T. from Antioch.

Mr. Clark Folgate, director of secondary curriculum, received his B.S. from Bowling Green and his M.S. from the University of Toledo. He was a classroom teacher for nine years, then he spent two years working with airborne TV; he has also been a supervisor of secondary education.

MR. CLAUDE B. SMITH, director of instructional materials center, is in charge of audio-visual equipment and supplies, teaching aids, and classroom supplies.

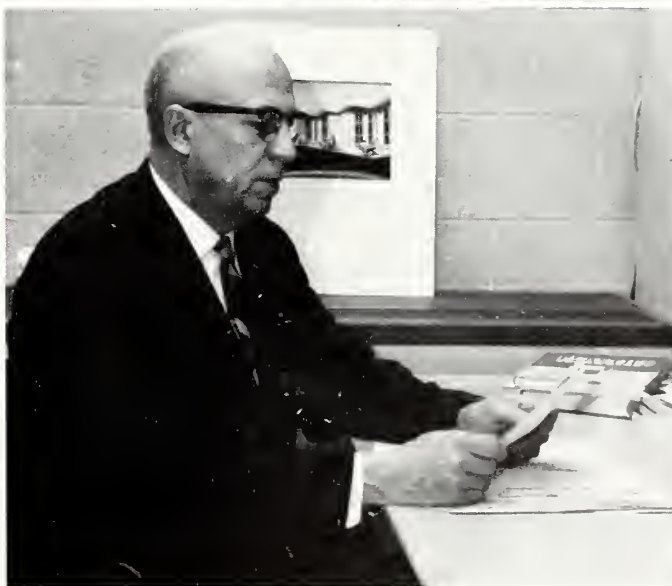

MR. PAUL WEAVER, assistant principal, sponsors Inter-Club Council.
 MR. BERNARD CARMIN, assistant principal, is in charge of book rental.
 MR. WALTER TUCKER, director of vocational and adult education, co-ordinates evening classes.

MR. WEAVER

MR. CARMIN

Business, Maintenance

Mr. Claude B. Smith has been director of the instructional materials center for one year. Having received his B.S. from Indiana University and his M.S. from Ball State, he taught for 14 years.

As assistant principal of MHS, Mr. Paul Weaver has numerous responsibilities, such as constructing the master schedule and arranging for assemblies and programs. Having earned his B.S. from Butler and his M.A. from Ball State, he advanced from classroom teacher to dean of boys, and then to assistant principal of MHS. Outside his school activities, he enjoys golf.

Mr. Bernard Carmin, assistant principal of MHS, has returned to Marion High for 27 years. Having previously served as dean of boys, Mr. Carmin has held the position of assistant principal for five years. He received his B.S. from Indiana University and his M.S. degree from Northwestern University. Although his main interests lie in the school, Mr. Carmin also enjoys lake activities spent at his cottage in Wisconsin.

After teaching general shop at junior high school, then machine shop at Marion High School, Mr. Walter Tucker assumed his present position as director of vocational and adult education. His schooling earned him a B.S. degree from Ball State, after which he did graduate work at Purdue and Indiana State.

MISS DOROTHY WALTERS, dean of girls, is in charge of the exploratory teaching class and is the sponsor of F.T.A. She received her B.S. and M.A. degrees from I.U. She now serves as president of the Indiana Association of Women Deans and Counselors.

MR. A. A. VITELLO earned his B.S. from Purdue and M.S. from Indiana State. Until February, when he took a position with the Purdue faculty, he was dean of boys at MHS. Replacing him is Mr. Virgil Kirkpatrick, who has also taken over the sponsorship of the Student Council.

MR. WILLIAM PHILLIPS heads the Marion High School custodial staff.

Being the first to complete three consecutive years at Marion's new high school, the '67 graduating class bade farewell to MHS . . . farewell MHS!

After their freshman year at "North Campus" the unsuspecting students moved into a muddled atmosphere of newness and excitement. Under the leadership of Rick Teegarden, president, the class enjoyed the "Parade of Spring," and the "Hollywood Premiere."

It took their sophomore year to familiarize themselves with the long halls, computer scheduling, and the lunch system. Among the activities during the year, students enjoyed a trip with the Giants to the Semi-State at Ft. Wayne; witnessed "Once Upon a Mattress;" and danced at the first Coronation Ball. Chas Arrendale, sophomore president, promoted their first candy sale to raise money for the class.

As juniors, under the direction of Reed Maidenber, class president, they diligently worked on the prom with the "Moon River" theme. They delighted in "The Sound of Music", took pride in winning the State Golf Championship and the NCC Championship, and prepared themselves for their exciting senior year.

Their final year consisted of the traditional Senior Cords, name cards, senior pictures, commencement, and opportunities awaiting them. A rollicking play called "The Man Who Came to Dinner" was directed by Mr. Clarke.

CLASS OFFICERS — Joe Thorne (Vice President), Cathie Earle (Treasurer), Carolyn Osburn (Secretary), and Tom Gardner (President).

"OF COURSE, THE GIANTS WIN," say the students as the seniors portray other schools at the sectional pep session. This skit boosted the spirit of not only the seniors, but all MHS'ers.

DE AND DCE STUDENTS OF THE YEAR —
The MHS Distributive Education Club brought back over half the honors from the state contest as well as having Linda Ireland earn the distinction of being the first Marion student ever to win four firsts at a state contest by placing first in Job Interview, Study in Marketing-Department, Study in Marketing-Specialty, and being named student of the year.

Pat Gray, in the Diversified Cooperative Education Contest earned the honor of being chosen D.C.E. Student of Distinction for the state of Indiana. In earning this award, Pat was also judged winner of the State Public Speaking Award.

Of The Future

Juniors, Anxious To Start, Returned To

ORGANIZING ACTIVITIES for the junior class are Mr. Herschell King and Mr. J. R. Miller, Marion High counselors who serve as sponsors of the class.

Fresh from summer's recreation, the junior class returned to MHS in September, anxious to make the 66-67 school year a year to remember.

Early in the year the junior class officers were elected. From the many qualified students who ran for offices, the class chose David Main, president; Hugh McClelland, vice-president; Burtie Beekman, secretary; and Cathy Barton, treasurer. To guide the juniors through the year were Mr. J. R. Miller and Mr. Herschell King, who took time from their counseling to assist the class.

As did the three other classes at MHS, the juniors participated in the Relay and Homecoming activities. Susie Wilkinson represented the juniors in the Homecoming Court. Many more juniors decorated floats, playing in the band, or simply cheered the giants on to their defeat of Anderson at Memorial Field. The class also had an attendant in the Relay Court in the spring. Those not taking part in the Relays and Homecoming showed their enthusiasm by attending the various athletic activities.

The high point of the month of May, and of the year, was the Junior-Senior Prom. The juniors worked hard and spent many hours working out the details of the prom, but they were rewarded by the success of the well-received prom.

The year went fast, and following '67 the class of '68 looked forward to a climatic senior year.

LOOKING FORWARD to a year filled with such annual activities as Homecoming, the Coronation Ball, and the Junior-Senior prom are officers, Dave Main, president;

Hugh McClelland, vice-president; Burtie Beekman, secretary, and Cathy Barton, treasurer.

CHOOSING SECOND SEMESTER CLASSES, Lynn Huber, an MHS junior, discusses her schedule, as well as school problems, with her counselor, Mr. King.

CO-CHAIRMEN for the 1967 Junior-Senior Prom, take time from school activities to look over plans for the annual event.

The 1967 Junior-Senior Prom was held on the evening of Saturday, May 27th, in the school cafeteria. The theme, "Somewhere Over the Rainbow," was carried out in blue and green decorations.

Providing the music for the dance were the Bristols, a group from Indianapolis, who played the theme song, "Over the Rainbow."

Organizing the committees for the annual prom were the two co-chairmen, Janet McKown and Terry Terhune. The committees spent much time in arranging the various details and were rewarded by the success of the prom. The committees and their co-chairmen were as follows: theme and invitation, Kaye Ellen Clow and Mark Marnocha; main decoration, Sandy Plank and Norman Lingeman; hall decoration, Pam Rhorer and Gordon Love; table decoration, Barb Frye and Dave Roskin; final decoration, Nancy Hutchinson and Rod Hall; coronation, Connie Gilbert and Kim Manwell; refreshment, Sheila Scott and Steve Krampe; ticket, Rhonda Lawrence and Tom Ewing.

This Year's Sophomores Had the Largest

DISCUSSING PLANS and activities of the sophomore class for this year are Mr. Phil Albertson and Mr. Gary Phillips, MHS counselors and sponsors of the class.

This year was the first for the sophomores at MHS to be together as the class of '69. Last year's freshmen from Jones, McCulloch, and Marion have combined into the largest class at Marion High.

As its first official duty, the class elected officers. Those selected were Steve Tuttle, president; Greg Harris, vice-president; Cathy Streib, secretary; and Jeanette Stephenson, treasurer. Guiding the class members throughout the year were Mr. Gary Phillips and Mr. Phil Albertson, two of Marion High's counselors.

After a semester of training, many sophomores were eager to be able to drive by themselves, feeling they were well prepared to assume the responsibility. Sophomores who were musically inclined had, for the first time, both boys' and girls' ensembles that performed for the public on frequent occasions. Other courses to fill a sophomore's schedule included health, world history, and geometry.

The class had many outstanding students participating in basketball, baseball, football, wrestling, and cross-country. The reserve cheerleaders elected to help build enthusiasm and encourage victory were Cathy Fear, Cathy Streib, Gretchen Leech, Bonnie Rankin, and Sheila Scott. Teresa Shrock represented the class in the homecoming activities in October, and another sophomore girl was selected for the Relay Court.

April . . . May . . . June . . . the class moved forward, looking back on a successful year.

SOPHOMORE OFFICERS Greg Harris, vice-president; Cathy Streib, secretary; Jeanette Stephenson, treasurer; and Steve Tuttle, president; take time from busy school schedules to discuss this year's homecoming, Coronation Ball, and other activities.

Though Small in Number Freshmen Were

GUIDING THE FRESHMAN class and their officers in their projects and activities is Mrs. Virginia Byelene, sponsor of the class and an MHS counselor.

Though small in number, this year's freshman class was big in hopes and plans. Anxious to take their place as one of the Marion's four activity-filled classes, the freshmen quickly began filling their year with events, education, and achievements.

One of many "firsts" for the class of '70 was the election of class officers. To lead them during the year, the class chose Doug Grant, president; Hank Koegel, vice-president; Linda Cruzan, secretary; and Belinda Downam, treasurer. To guide the class and assist them in adjusting to the high school routine was Mrs. Virginia Byelene, MHS counselor.

Homecoming was another new experience for the freshmen. Twanna Florianna was the freshman Princess in the Homecoming Court, and most class members attended the exciting football game with Anderson. Another freshman girl was chosen as an attendant for the annual Relays.

This year also found many freshmen involved in sports. The six freshman cheerleaders — Jan Smith, Marilyn Detamore, Vicki Wysong, Monica Woodring, Cindy Whitlock, and Chris Woodard—and a multitude of cheering class members helped spur the basketball, football, and cross-country teams on to their many victories.

As the school year came to a close, the class looked with pride at its accomplishments during its first year at MHS and hoped their sophomore year would bring even more satisfaction.

DISCUSSING ACTIVITIES and money-making projects of the freshman class for the '66-'67 school year are the officers of the class, Doug Grant, president; Belinda Downam, treasurer; Linda Cruzan, secretary; and Hank Koegel, vice-president.

The End of "The Year"

"'67 Was The Year," the theme that we developed throughout the 1967 Cactus, was chosen because 1967 was an eventful exciting year for the students at Marion High School. This school documentary has recorded the year's events as a composite picture of MHS'ers and their school life.

To my staff who worked unfailingly during class period and many after-school hours, I extend my thanks. Also thanks are in order to Mr. Garwood for his patience and guidance in producing this school annual.

In future years this Cactus will have a special meaning for the graduating class of 1967. As you turn through the pages of this book and recall the many eventful hours spent in Marion High School, our one purpose will have been fulfilled in giving to you — the seventy-first Cactus.

Perhaps someday our paths of life may meet again. Then we can reminisce — when "'67 Was The Year."
